NEW METHOD IN CRIMINAL CASE IS PROPOSED

House Judiciary Committee
Redrafts Bill for Probe
Before Arrest

WIDE POWER IS GIVEN Courts Would be Able to Summon Persons to Testify Before Crime Committed

A new method of procedure in criminal matters in the state is proposed in a report in which the committee in a report in which it re-wrote house bill No. 23, introduced by Reps. Miller and Halvorson. The report went into general orders and was to be discussed today.

Power to subpoena witnesses to testify as to an alleged violation of law, as a preliminary process to making an arrest, is provided for in the measure which, according to Chairman Stark of the judiciary committee, follows a similar South Dakota law.

Whenever any complaint verified upon information and belief has been made and approved by judge, the matter may be laid before any justice of the peace, police magistrate or judge of a county court having increased jurisdiction asking for an investigation. The official is charged with the duty of issuing subpoenas requiring persons to submit to examination and give testimony under oath concerning any violation of law which may be questioned.

The bill provides that if it appears that there has been a violation of law it is the duty of the official to issue a warrant of arrest, if approved by the district court or state attorney, and further proceedings shall be had according to existing law.

The amendment is substituted for a similar bill which laid all such powers in the hands of the state attorney, the purpose of the bill being to make possible inquiry into alleged violations of law and obtaining of evidence through a legal procedure instead of other investigation.

Agreement Invoked
The "gentlemen's agreement" not to take up important matters during the absence of members attending the Tri-State Grain Growers' convention in Fargo upon objection of 10 members was invoked for the first time in the house today, when Rep. Carr, Stutsman, attempted to apply the "clinch motion" to his bill, No. 37, reducing the time in which threshers' liens must be filed from 30 to 15 days after threshing. Rep. Starke or Starke and 15 others objected, and the "clinch" was not applied. The bill had been passed previously by a vote of 61 to 31, and Rep. Carr sought to prevent reconsideration of the measure.

Interest was manifest, but there was no debate, when Rep. Ellingson moved that the anti-dancing in schools bill be taken from the committee on temperance and given to the committee on education. Rep. Halvorson, co-author of the measure, is chairman of the committee on temperance. He did not object to the transfer.

Chairman Twichell of the state affairs committee, asking consent to hold the bill for the repeal of the pool hall license law for a longer time, said that it was understood other measures of similar import would be introduced.

GUMMER TO SEEK RETRIAL APPEALS CASE

Fargo, Jan. 20.—William Gummer, serving a life sentence for the murder of Marie Wick in a hotel here in June, 1921, announced through his attorneys that appeal papers will be filed in the state supreme court in the next week. A formal motion for new trial was denied by Judge C. M. Cooley of Grand Forks, who presided in the trial in Barnes county a year ago. Judge Cooley announced he had appointed William C. Green of Fargo state attorney at the time of the trial to represent the state.

The appeal is based chiefly upon an attack upon the sufficiency of the evidence to sustain a conviction and the alleged erroneous admission of testimony as to Gummer's acts with other women.

Creation of public game preserves in the state is proposed in resolutions adopted by the Bismarck Gun Club and placed before the legislature.

It is proposed that funds for establishing game preserves be obtained from hunting licenses or similar methods.

American relief organizations saved thousands of lives in the Near East during the recent upheaval when the Turks overcame the Greeks advanced and burned Smyrna and other cities, according to Andrew Bougas, proprietor of the Van Horn cafe, who has returned from a seven months trip to Greece, where he visited his mother.

In spite of the efforts of the Americans, the Turks drove out many relief workers, Mr. Bougas declared, especially at Smyrna. He asserts that at one place the American relief agencies had put 470 girls in a building, cared for them, and then the Turks burned the building and all of the girls perished.

"The people of Greece and the Armenians feel very grateful toward America, and they understand appreciation," said Mr. Bougas.

Judge Advocate General Laulas of the Greek army told him that American relief saved thousands of lives, Mr. Bougas said.

MIDDLE WEST ASKED TO AID IN RUST FIGHT

Must Match Federal Appropriation for Barberrry Eradication

Minneapolis, Jan. 20.—Unless the middle western states vitally interested in barberrry eradication make adequate appropriations for continuing the fight to control black stem rust the federal government may greatly reduce its future allowance for the activity according to information received from Washington by the Prevention of Grain Rust which has its headquarters here.

The first move in the plan to turn the matter over to the states was the incorporation in the barberrry bill now before congress of a provision to increase the appropriation from $850,000 to $500,000 only in the event the extra $150,000 is matched by the states. The House passed the $350,000 bill without any restriction but the Senate, seeing the economy of hastening the completion of the survey, adopted an amendment granting more money contingent on an equal amount of state aid. The bill now is before a conference committee with the Farm Bureau Federation and business interests of the Northwest urging the acceptance of the Senate amendment.

The government has been carrying the burden of barberrry eradication since 1918 and has spent approximately $1,000,000 on the enterprise. The United States department of agriculture estimates that the work can be completed during the next two years at a cost of $850,000. With $500,000 from Congress this year and $150,000 more from the states, leaders in the movement believe there will be no trouble in raising the funds necessary to finish the job in 1924, thereby make possible the control of black stem rust in the spring wheat area.

Ten states are directly concerned in the activity. They are Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. If the Senate amendment prevails it will be necessary for these states to raise $150,000 to obtain the maximum federal expenditure and make possible the economy of completing the task in the next two years.

The gun club also asked for a closed season on deer, the intention of present laws regarding ducks and prairie chickens, and asked a bounty on coyotes of $10 for a female and $5 for each male or pup, and a bounty of 25 cents on magpies and crows.

ROAD PROGRAM LAID BEFORE STATE SENATE

Bill for Constitutional Amendment and Two Companion Bills Prepared

WAREHOUSES PLANNED Senator Hamilton Introduces Bill to Establish Farm Bonded Warehouses

Introduction of 10 bills, several of them of considerable importance, passage of Senator Walter Bond's bill to regulate interest payment by borrower from the university and school lands funds, and receipt of the report of the state guaranty fund commission were the high lights of the session of the North Dakota senate yesterday afternoon.

The guaranty fund commission's report was not read but was presented to the secretary of the senate, and will appear in the senate journal.

Included among the measures introduced were three companion bills introduced by Senator Leroy Baird of Stark county. The object of the measures is to create new state highway commission which will be satisfactory to the federal government in connection with the distribution of federal road aid.

Roads Program In
One of the measures is a concurrent resolution calling for the submission to the people of the state a constitutional amendment creating the commission. Of the other two one provides for the creation of the commission by statute and gives it authority over the state road system, and the other provides for the financing of the state's road work through the collection of auto-license fees.

Under the plan outlined in Senator Baird's bills the highway commission would consist of three members appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate for six year terms. The members would be paid $10 per day when actually engaged in the discharge of their duties. All three bills are favored by the North Dakota Good Roads association.

Another important measure introduced today was S. B. 47 put in by Senator Hamilton of McHenry county. It provides for the establishment of a system of bonded warehouses on farms and for the issuance of storage tickets for grain stored in the same.

Senator Porter of Cavalier county introduced two companion measures advocated by the North Dakota state press association.

One requires that before any newspaper can be a candidate for county official paper it must have been in continuous existence for a year previous, and must have at least 150 bona fide subscribers. The effect of the second measure will be to make a big cut in the cost of printing cheaply and to require all illiquid tax lists and require all copy to be set single column thus affecting another reduction in cost.

ONE KILLED TWO SHOT IN BANK ROBBERY

St. Paul, Jan. 20.—One bandit was killed and two others seriously wounded today when three bandits robbed the Payne Avenue State bank here of $2,000 in cash.

Evidencing resistance Chester A. Eklund, the bank cashier, and Charles E. Carlson, a patron, were shot by the bandits. Eklund may not live, and if he does, surgeons say he will be paralyzed. Carlson is expected to recover.

The bandit who was shot was identified as Neal Hurley, a former St. Paul policeman. His companion fled in an automobile which was found to be abandoned several blocks from the bank.

Several communications were read, one from a group of citizens of Trail county endorsing the proposed income tax bill, and urging that all tax exemptions, tax free securities, etc. be done away with.

ASKS FUND TO HELP COLLECT LOAN INTEREST

State Treasurer Asks Appropriation as Result Farm Loan Delinquencies

TWO-THIRDS BACK No Payment Is Made at All On 243 Loans of Bank of North Dakota

The office of the state treasurer is asking the legislature for $10,000 with which to push collections on about a quarter of a million dollars in delinquent farm loans, made by the Bank of North Dakota during 1919-20.

Not a payment has been on more than a million dollars of the loans not all of which is due, however, according to J. O. Lyngstad, deputy to the treasurer. There is no money on hand in the office with which to pay foreclosure expense, insurance premiums or taxes, he says in the following statement:

"Of 785 farm loans, made by the Bank of North Dakota during 1919 and 1920 now held by the state treasurer, aggregating the sum of $2,802,762.85 there are:

"2 loans which have been paid in full.

"296 loans on which all installments, due, have been paid.

"22 loans on which one or more installments have been paid.

"243 loans on which no payments have been made.

"The 243 loans on which no payments have been made total $1,029,300. All installments, due to date, on the above loans number 1,799 and amounts to $478,888.75. Of these 225 installments, aggregating $216,073.97 have been paid and 874 installments aggregating $269,814.78 are delinquent.

"While the state treasurer has full control over these loans and can foreclose the mortgages for non-payment, no money has been provided with which to pay foreclosure expenses, insurance premiums or taxes. If any of this land was sold for taxes and was ready to go to tax deed the state would be unable to redeem unless money is provided for this purpose.

"A request for $40,000 for this purpose was made to the budget board but the board felt this was a matter for the legislature to decide. It is apparent that some provision should be made soon in order to force collection on these loans, as in many cases the longer foreclosure is delayed the more the state loses. Not only that, but some provision must be made for the handling of this land after the state gets title to it."

MANY PAY LAST TRIBUTE AT BIER OF WALLACE REID MOVIE STAR; LEADERS OF FILMDOM ARE PRESENT

Los Angeles, Jan. 20.—The body of Wallace Reid, motion picture actor, was to go on its final "location" today. That was the word used to explain his absence to the small son Billy and that was the word generally used throughout filmdom, but it had a different meaning in each case.

To the boy it merely meant that his father was out of town making a scene not readily duplicated as the studio, Billy, who is five years old, and his tiny adopted sister will not attend his funeral and an attempt will be made to keep them at play at home this afternoon when the services take place.

The body was to be in state from 10 o'clock this morning to 2:30 p. m. at a local church.

The floors of the church were to be closed for an hour beginning at 2:30 o'clock and at 3:30 o'clock services were to be held by the Episcopal clergy and a judge of the Protective Order of Elks, of which Reid was a member.

The Rev. Neil Dodd, rector of St. Mary's of the Angels, was to read the Episcopal service. He is known as the "chaplain of the movies" and his church at Hollywood, is called the "little church around the corner."

The officers of the Elks were to give the ritual of their order.

Chief of Police Oakes has detailed a large number of uniformed officers to handle the crowds expected to gather outside the church. Active pull-beers include Bennie Frazer, Reid's chauffeur. Others will be Wm. S. Hart, Ed. E. Brady, Noah Beery, William Desmond and Eugene Paltte. Honorary pull-beers will be Theo. Roberts, Jack Holt, Sam Wood, Conrad Nagel, Antonio Moreno and Victor H. Clarke, who will represent Jesse L. Lasky, director of the Famous Players west coast studios, where Reid was employed.

The body will be cremated at a cemetery in Glendale, a suburb.

Bostrop, La., Jan. 20.—Effort to identify additional members of the masked band which on August 24 kidnapped Watt Daniel and T. F. Richards will be continued at the open hearing here, according to an announcement by Attorney General Cocco personally in charge of the investigation.

New Gray was identified Thursday by Fred Eubanks as one of the masked band which held up dozens of persons in the highway near here on the day in question and Mrs. J. H. Inabey of Mer Rouge on the stand yesterday stated she also recognized Gray.

H. E. Blankenship, testified today that he had identified the Ford truck bearing the Louisiana license No. 74657 as the truck he saw August 24 in which Watt Daniel was a prisoner of hooded men. Blankenship said two masked, one of whom he recognized as Oliver Skipwith, the younger son of Capt. J. H. Shipwith, head of the Moorehouse parish.

DIES AT SANITARIUM

Monroe, La., Jan. 20.—John T. Parker Jr., former sheriff of Ouachita parish, who was shot on the Bastrop road 15 miles from Bastrop last night by Harry Calhoun, of Monroe, died at a local sanitarium here early today without having regained consciousness.

The shooting of Parker is shrouded in mystery.

Calhoun, who is superintendent of the McGowan Drake Fishing and Hunting club near Sterling, La., was arrested this morning. He would make no statement.

"I was a personal friend of Jack Parker," he said, "I have known him since boyhood and we were friends for years. I hate the shooting as much as anyone else but I have no statement to make as to it. All I can say is that I am sorry. For hours Calhoun spent his time in weeping because of the killing of his former friend."

ACQUITTED OF MURDER FACE NEW TRIAL

Herrin Defendants to be Arraigned on Additional Indictments

CONTINUE PROSECUTION Verdict Rebuke to Strike Breaking Tactics

(By the Associated Press.)
Marion, Ill., Jan. 20.—Freed on one charge of murder in connection with the death of Howard Hoffman, one of the Herrin riot victims, the five men today faced a trial within a few weeks on another charge of murder growing out of the outbreaks.

A jury of Williamson county farmers yesterday declared the five men not guilty to contributing to Hoffman's death, thus finally disposing of the state's first case. The verdict was reached after 27 hours of deliberation.

The five defendants in the state's initial case—Gerberman, Joe (Archie), Peter Hiller, Burt Grace and Otis Clark—have been indicted with eight others on charges of abducting Antonio Mukovich of Erie, Pa., a former service man, killed during the riots.

Edward J. Brundage, attorney general of Illinois, who was in Davenport, Ia., when the verdicts were read announced "the state of Illinois will continue its prosecution of those believed guilty in the Herrin atrocities."

He added that he believed the five men were guilty and that the jury "was fearful of the consequences should a verdict of guilty be returned."

The chief counsel for the defense asserted: "It was the only righteous verdict which could have been read, and expressed the hope it would result in 'abolishment of the use of hired gunmen in controversies between capital and labor.'"

The eight men under indictment in connection with the Herrin mine "killing" who had been denied liberty were released from the Williamson county court jail today, when the state's attorney agreed to allow them freedom under $20,000 bond each. Nineteen merchants, bankers, and other business men of Herrin signed the bonds totaling $180,000.

WONDER WHEN WAGES WILL BE PAID

Marshal Foch on Way to Take Charge of Situation

FRENCH IN SADDLE Take Over All Licenses and Details in Operation of Mines

(By the Associated Press.)
Eisen, Jan. 20.—It was reported here this morning that Marshal Foch would arrive in the Ruhr valley during the day.

Payday in the Ruhr brought labor to the fore as one of the most formidable obstacles in the path of French and Belgian experts who in their firm determination to exact reparations payments by force have already seized some of the Prussian state mines and arrested several of the magnates.

To the murmurs of the discontent at the presence of French bayonets before several of the pit-heads there was added today an atmosphere of unrest and uncertainty as the workmen began to wonder where their pay envelopes would come from.

Won't Assume Responsibility.
Delegates from the union were informed last evening by the French that France was unwilling to assume responsibility for the wage payments. On the other hand Herren Krupp and Thyssen, although not officially announcing they had no money to meet the payroll, gave the workers to understand that today's envelopes probably would be thin.

Five thousand workmen in the state mines and ovens in other districts protested against the confiscation of the properties there and the imprisonment of Herr Rochstein, the director. The French authorities demanding withdrawal of soldiers and the release of Herr Rochstein within 24 hours.

Refused Point Blank.
The latter request was refused point blank, whereupon the workers adopted a resolution which said: "We will not work under French bayonets."

The resolution threatened a strike on Monday unless the troops were withdrawn and the director set free. Workmen at the Moeller pits at Gladbach have already laid down their tools and there were reports today that technical experts at other places had also quit work. Troops stationed at Gladbach at Bauer mines which were seized yesterday were said to have been reinforced by a detachment of cavalry equipped with machine guns and night howitzers.

Most Notices.
The occupying forces have posted notices that the confiscation of the mines and the exploitation of the collection of the coal tax would proceed in the Ruhr forthwith but extending the decree promulgated in the Rhineland.

The control mission has already served notice that henceforth all export licenses must be obtained from the French. Heretofore they have been issued at Berlin.

It seemed probable that the reopening of the Reichbank at Dueseldorf this morning would be followed by similar action by other banks closed yesterday.

EQUITY PLANT DECIDES UPON FUTURE PLAN

Fargo, Jan. 20.—The directors of the Equity Co-operative Packing company in session here today after reaching an agreement yesterday restoring peace in the company had reached no agreement today toward election of officers.

C. W. Reichert said today that he could not say when the election of officers would take place.

The order appointing a temporary receiver was dissolved today by Judge Cole when Ira J. Larson, temporary receiver, presented his report.

At yesterday's meeting it was agreed to withdraw the $11,000 damage suit against the old board. It was dismissed without prejudice and without filing another.

A plan of co-operation between the directors, and business men whereby local business men were to be given representation on the board of directors is pending. It was also said that an advisory board of Fargo business men might be formed.

Mr. Reichert's resignation as president is still pending before the board, as also is that of U. L. Burns of the directors in what would be done as counsel for the company. No statement would be made by any one as to the resignations.

WEATHER FORECAST.
Generally fair tonight and Sunday. Somewhat colder tonight.

House Judiciary Committee Redrafts Bill for Probe Before Arrest

WIDE POWER IS GIVEN

Courts Would be Able to Summon Persons to Testify Before Crime Committed

A new method of procedure in criminal matters in the state is proposed by the house judiciary committee in a report in which it re-wrote house bill No. 23, introduced by Reps. Miller and Halcrow. The report went into general orders and was to be discussed today.

Power to subpoena witnesses to testify as to an alleged violation of law, as a preliminary process to making an arrest, is provided for in the measure which, according to Chairman Stark of the judiciary committee, follows a similar South Dakota law.

Whenever any complaint verified upon information and belief has been made and approved by the state attorney or a district judge, the matter may be laid before any justice of the peace, police magistrate or judge of a county court having increased jurisdiction asking for an investigation. The official is charged with the duty of issuing subpoenas requiring persons to submit to examination and give testimony under oath concerning any violation of law which may be questioned.

The bill provides that if it appears that there has been a violation of law it is the duty of the official to issue a warrant of arrest, if approved by the district court or states attorney, and further proceedings shall be had according to existing law.

The amendment is substituted for a similar bill which laid all such powers in the hands of the official to make possible inquiry into alleged violations of law and obtaining evidence through a legal procedure instead of other investigation.

Interest was manifested, but there was no debate, when Rep. Ellingson moved that the anti-dancing in schools bill be taken from the committee on temperance and given to the committee on education. Rep. Halcrow, co-author of the measure, is chairman of the committee on temperance. He did not object to the transfer.

Asks Law Repeal

Repeal of the county seed and feed law, which permits counties to bond for the purchase of seed and feed was proposed in house bill No. 61, introduced by Rep. Mus, Ward county. Two companion measures setting up machinery for retirement of outstanding bonds were also introduced, being made necessary by the repeal provision of the first bill.

In acting on committee reports the house accepted the resignation of R. M. Lee as proof-reader and named Hugh Black of Warner for the place. Rep. Turshaw's bill extending the recall provisions to include park boards was reported favorably, with amendment permitting signers to withdraw names from petitions any time before the lists are certified by the city auditor. Rep. Sproul's bill to provide "staggered" terms for village board members was advanced.

Communications received include one from a taxpayers' association of Hillsboro calling for economy and asking: (1) Power to issue that percent of actual value; (2) that percent of tax exempt bonds be forbidden; (3) that there be no tax exemptions for a period of two to four years; (4) that the 3-cent flat acreage hall tax be repealed.

The object of the measures is to create a state highway commission which will be satisfactory to the federal government in connection with the distribution of federal road aid.

Roads Program In

One of the measures is a concurrent resolution calling for the submission to the people of the state as a constitutional amendment creating the commission. Of the other two one provides for the creation of the authority over the state road system, and the other provides for the financing of the state's road work through the collection of auto license fees.

Under the plan outlined in Senator Baird's bills the highway commission would consist of three members appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate for six year terms. The members would be paid $10 per day when actually engaged in the discharge of their duties. All three bills are fathered by the North Dakota Good Roads association.

Another important measure introduced today was S. B. 47 put in by Senator Hamilton of McHenry county. It provides for the establishment of a system of bonded warehouses on farms and for the issuance of storage tickets for grain stored in the same.

Senator Porter of Cavalier county introduced two companion measures advocated by the North Dakota state press association.

One requires that before any newspaper can be a candidate for county official paper it must have been in continuous existence for a year previous, and must have at least 150 bona fide subscribers. The effect of the second measure will be to make a big cut in the cost of printing delinquent tax lists, and requires all copy to be set single column thus affecting another reduction in cost.

Would Modify Pension Law

Other measures introduced will have the effect of materially tightening up the terms of the mothers' pension law, provide a graduated scale of salaries for county officers, make veterans of the Spanish-American War eligible for appointment as commandant of the Soldiers' Home at Lisbon, and create in the office of the insurance commissioner a court of appeals for disputed fire insurance ratings. The last named measure is drawn in accordance with a similar law in Minnesota.

The list of bills introduced today was the largest that has come in since the present session of the senate opened.

Senator Bond's bill for the regulation of interest payments on loans made from the eligible for appointment of lands passed the senate without a dissenting vote. The effect of the bill is to make it possible for a borrower to pay his loan at any time during the calendar year and pay interest only up to the time of payment instead for the full year.

Several communications were read, one from a group of citizens of Trail county endorsing the proposed income tax bill, and urging that all tax exemptions, tax free securities, etc. be done away with.

ASKS FUND TO HELP COLLECT LOAN INTEREST

State Treasurer Asks Appropriation as Result Farm Loan Delinquencies

TWO-THIRDS BACK

No Payment is Made at All On 243 Loans of Bank of North Dakota

The office of the state treasurer is asking the legislature for $10,000 with which to push collections on about a quarter of a million dollars in delinquent farm loans, made by the Bank of North Dakota during 1919-20.

Not a payment has been made on more than a million dollars of the loans not all of which is due, however, according to J. O. Lyngstad, deputy to the treasurer. There is no money on hand in the office with which to pay foreclosure expense, insurance premiums or taxes, he says in the following statement:

"Of 765 farm loans, made by the Bank of North Dakota during 1919 and 1920 now held by the state treasurer, aggregating the sum of $2,802,762.85 there are:

"2 loans which have been paid in full.

"226 loans on which all installments, due, have been paid.

"224 loans on which one or more installments have been paid.

"243 loans on which no payments have been made.

"The 243 loans on which no payments have been made total $1,029,300. All installments, due to date, on the above loan number 1,799 and amounts to $475,888.75. Of these 925 installments, aggregating $216,073.97 have been paid and 874 installments aggregating $259,814.78 are delinquent.

While the state treasurer has full control over these loans and can foreclose the mortgages for non-payment, no money has been provided with which to pay foreclosure expenses, insurance premiums or taxes. If any of this land was sold for taxes and was ready to go to tax deed the state would be unable to redeem unless money is provided for this purpose.

"A request for $40,000 for this purpose was made to the budget board but the board felt this was a matter for the legislature to decide. It is apparent that some provision should be made soon in order to force collection on these loans, as in many cases, the longer foreclosure is delayed the more the state loses. Not only that, but some provision must be made for the handling of this land after the state gets title to it."

ONE KILLED TWO SHOT IN BANK ROBBERY

St. Paul, Jan. 20.—One bandit was killed and two others seriously wounded today when three bandits robbed the Payne Avenue State bank here of $2,000 in cash.

Patrolman Nels Olson stationed in the bank for weeks as guard, shot and killed the bandit after a hand to hand struggle during which the bandit emptied his revolver in attempting to kill the policeman. Evading resistance Chester A. Eklund, the bank cashier, and Charles E. Carlson, a patron, were shot by the bandits. Eklund may not live, and if he does, surgeons say he will be paralyzed. Carlson is expected to recover.

The bandit who was shot was identified as Neal Hurley, a former St. Paul policeman. His companion fled in an automobile which was found to be abandoned several blocks from the bank.

MANY PAY LAST TRIBUTE AT BIER OF WALLACE REID MOVIE STAR; LEADERS OF FILMDOM ARE PRESENT

Los Angeles, Jan. 20.—The body of Wallace Reid, motion picture actor, was to go on its final "location" today. That was the word used to explain his absence to his small son Billy and that was the word generally used throughout film-dom, but it had a different meaning in each case.

To the boy it merely meant that his father was out of town making a scene not readily duplicated at the studio. Billy, who is five years old, and his tiny adopted sister will not attend his funeral and an attempt will be made to keep them at home this afternoon when the services take place.

The body was to lie in state from 10 o'clock this morning to 2:30 p. m. at a local church.

The doors of the church were to be closed for an hour beginning at 2:30 o'clock and at 3:30 o'clock joint services were to be held by the Episcopal clergy and a lodge of the Protective Order of Elks, of which Reid was a member.

The Rev. Neil Dodd, rector of St. Mary's of the Angels, was to read the Episcopal service. He is known as the "chaplain of the movies" and his church at Hollywood, is called the "little church around the corner." The officers of the Elks were to give the ritual of their order.

Chief of Police Oakes has detailed a large number of uniformed officers to handle the crowds expected to gather outside the church. Active pall-bearers include Bonnie Brazer, Reid's chauffeur. Others will be Wm. S. Hart, Ed. E. Brady, Noah Beery, William Desmond and Eugene Pallette. Honorary pall-bearers will be Theo. Roberts, Jack Holt, Sam Wood, Conrad Nagel, Antonio Moreno and Victor H. Clarke, who will represent Jessie L. Lasky, director of the Famous Players, west coast studios, where Reid was employed.

The body will be cremated at a cemetery in Glendale, a suburb.

PRESIDENT GAINS STRENGTH AFTER ATTACK OF GRIPPE

Washington, Jan. 20.—Although his condition was showing marked improvement, President Harding who has been confined to the White House for several days with an attack of the gripe was advised to remain away from his office today by his personal physicians, Brig. Gen. Sawyer. Disappearance of fever and improved appetite was indicated in report of the president's condition last night. There was a possibility he would be permitted to take an auto ride today.

HEARINGS IN FEUD TANGLE TO CONTINUE

Seek to Identify Members Who Formed Hooded Gang of Mer Rouge

Former Sheriff Shot

Bostrop, La., Jan. 20.—Effort to identify additional members of the masked band which on August 24 kidnapped Wm. Daniel and T. F. Richards will be continued at the open hearing here, according to an announcement by Attorney General Cocco personally in charge of the investigation.

Newt Gray was identified Thursday by Fred Eubanks as one of the masked band which held up dozens of persons in the highway near here on the day in question and Mrs. J. H. Inabett of Mer Rouge on the stand yesterday stated she also recognized Gray.

H. E. Blankenship, testified today that he had identified the Ford truck bearing the Louisiana license No. 74657 as the truck he saw August 24 in which Wm. Daniel was a prisoner of hooded men. Blankenship said two masked, one of whom he recognized as Oliver Skipwith, the young son of Capt. J. H. Shipwith, head of the Moorehouse parish.

DIES AT SANITARIUM

Monroe, La., Jan. 20.—John T. Parker Jr., former sheriff of Ouachita parish, who was shot on the Bastrop road 15 miles from Bastrop last night by Harry E. Monroe, died at a local sanitarium here early today without having regained consciousness.

The shooting of Parker is shrouded in mystery. Calhoun, who is superintendent of the McGowan, Drake Fishing and Hunting club near Sterling, La. was arrested this morning. He would make no statement.

"I was a personal friend of Jack Parker," he said. "I have known him since boyhood and we were friends for years. I hate the shooting as much as anyone else, but I have no statement to make as to it. All that I can say is that I am sorry. For hours Calhoun spent his time in weeping because of the killing of his former friend."

WONDER WHEN WAGES WILL BE PAID

Marshal Foch on Way to Take Charge of Situation

FRENCH IN SADDLE

Take Over All Licenses and Details in Operation of Mines

(By the Associated Press)
Essen, Jan. 20.—It was reported here this morning that Marshal Foch would arrive in the Ruhr valley during the day.

Pavday in the Ruhr brought labor to the fore as one of the most formidable obstacles in the path of French and Belgian experts who in their firm determination to exact reparation payments by force have already seized some of the Prussian state mines and arrested several of the magnates.

To the murmurs of the discontent at the presence of French bayonets before several of the pit-heads there was added today an atmosphere of unrest and uncertainty as the workmen began to wonder where their pay envelopes would come from.

Won't Assume Responsibility. Delegates from the unions were informed last evening by the French that France was unwilling to assume responsibility for the wage payments. On the other hand Herren Krupp and Thyssen, although not officially announcing they had no money to meet the payroll, gave the workers to understand that today's envelopes probably would be thin.

Five thousand workmen in the state mines and ovens in other districts protested last evening against the confiscation of the properties there and the imprisonment of Herr Rochstein, the director. They framed an ultimatum to the French military authorities demanding withdrawal of soldiers and the release of Herr Rochstein within 24 hours.

Refused Point Blank. The latter request was refused point blank, whereupon the workers adopted a resolution which said: "We will not work under French bayonets."

The resolution threatened a strike on Monday unless the troops were withdrawn and the director set free. Workmen at the Moeller pits at Gladbach have already laid down their tools and there were reports today that technical experts at other places had also quit work. The troops stationed at Gladbach at Bauer mines which were seized yesterday were said to have been reinforced by a detachment of cavalry equipped with machine guns and eight howitzers.

Post Notices. The occupying forces have posted notices that the confiscation of customs and the exploitation of the collection of the coal tax would proceed in the Ruhr forthwith but extending the decree promulgated in the Rhineland.

The control mission has already served notice that henceforth all expert licenses must be obtained from the French. Heretofore they have been issued at Berlin.

It seemed probable that the reopening of the Reichbank at Dueseldorf this morning would be followed by similar action by other banks closed yesterday.

EQUITY PLANT DECIDES UPON FUTURE PLAN

G. N. MAIL CAR BURNED

Fargo, Jan. 20.—The directors of the Equity Co-operative Packing company in session here today after reaching an agreement yesterday regarding peace in the company had reached no agreement today toward election of officers.

C. W. Reichert said today that he could not say when the election of officers would take place.

The order appointing a temporary receiver was dissolved today by Judge Cole when Ira J. Larson, temporary receiver, presented his report.

WOULD PASS COMMAND FROM VETERAN OF BLUE TO ONE OF SPANISH WAR

That Father Time and his ally Death, have done what the forces of Robert E. Lee could not do—nearly exterminated the proud ranks of blue clad soldiers of the Union army, was officially recognized in senate of the Assembly of North Dakota yesterday when Senator Alfred Steel of Jamestown introduced a bill amending the present act to provide that the board of the state soldiers home at Lisbon shall name as "commandant" one who served in the war of the rebellion or in the 1st North Dakota Volunteers (Spanish American war).

"There are but a very few members of the G. A. R. still fighting against their arch-enemy death," said Senator Steel. "The few remaining are advancing in age to that day when taps shall sound for them, and it is not improbable that before the next session of the legislature none of the union army veterans shall remain. The bill is designed to pass the commandant's position down to the next generation of soldiers—the Spanish-American war veterans—and serve until he too shall give way to the veterans of the world war."

CITY LIBRARY ADDS MAGAZINES

Every public library of any importance has some one phase of public service which it stresses. The Bismarck Public Library has always made current literature its leader, for the reason that shelf material, etc., are out of date often before they reach the shelves.

Accordingly, this year, the library has a list of 105 subscription magazines and to gift subscriptions. This makes Bismarck the leading library in current material in the state and gradually the service will come to be a real asset in the community life of city.

Two important gifts to the current literature department of recent date are: A three year subscription to "Fruit, Garden and Home," a new magazine beginning publication in July at Des Moines, Iowa, and the gift of Geo. L. Will. Another very important gift was presented by Mr. Benton Baker. A complete bound set of Yale Review. This is one of the most beautiful and valuable gifts presented to the library and is greatly appreciated by the administration.

25 MILE WALK IS NOW A PLEASURE

Waggoner Says Tanlac Ended Indigestion and Added 15 Pounds To Weight—Feels 20 Years Younger.

"Since taking Tanlac I have gained fifteen pounds, and while I am forty-seven years old I feel as strong and active as I did at twenty," this statement was made recently, by L. W. Waggoner, a well-known retired lumberman, residing at 2717 8th St., Minneapolis, Minn.

"However," he continued, "for five years I was under treatment for stomach trouble, loss of appetite and constipation, and I often ached all over from head to foot."

"I got to where I couldn't stand my favorite sport—hunting—as I got so weak I would almost fall by the way side. Since taking Tanlac I can tramp twenty-five or thirty miles through the woods and still feel fine. What it takes to put a man on his feet in good shape Tanlac certainly has it."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.

Dispute Claim
The claim of Miss Luella A. Nelson of Napoleon of being the first county treasurer in the state is disputed by the members of the Chamber of Commerce of Mott. They declared that Hettinger county has a record of a young lady treasurer, Miss Maude Batty, for nearly 20 years and that she has just been re-elected for a second term. The Hettinger county slogan is "Always in the lead."

EDUCATION BONUS TAKES MUCH OF TAX

Total Is 64 Cents Out of Every Dollar Taxes, Says Official

Education and the soldiers' bonus take about 64 cents out of every dollar the taxpayers pay to the state for 1922 according to Lyman Baker, deputy tax commissioner. This is almost two-thirds of the total levied. According to a table which Mr. Baker made up to show just what will be done with the $4,762,907 levied as the general property tax of the state for 1922 the four important items of expenditure are as follows:

Education—36.85 cents of every tax dollar
Soldiers' bonus—27.47 cents
State bond interest—10.99 cents
Penal and charitable institutions—10.02 cents

This means that 85.33 cents of the taxpayers' dollar is spent for these four items and that only 14.67 cents is left for the other items such as the state departments, legislature, boards, commissions and numerous smaller items.

These figures are based on the general property tax but the percentage of the money spent for the various uses remains much the same for the special tax as well according to Mr. Baker. There are a few exceptions in that some of the special taxes are levied for special purposes such as hunting licenses which help to pay for the upkeep of the state game and fish board.

The figures are based on an assessed value, in the state, of $1,303,191,094.

Favoring a law whereby a school district with a low valuation may not be deprived of its share of schools by reason of not having sufficient funds from tax moneys collected in such district.

CULLING OF POULTRY PAYS

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—Forty-six percent of the hens in 873 flocks that were culled in North Dakota by farmers in cooperation with the poultry department of the North Dakota Agricultural College last fall and winter, were found to be poor producers or culls, according to figures compiled by A. A. Barton, poultry specialist at the college.

Poultry culling demonstrations were held in 31 counties of the state, Richland county leading with 39 flocks culled, although in Dickey county 3,078 birds were handled as against 2,880 in Richland county, the figures show.

SOVIET RUSSIA OPEN TO EVANGELISTIC MOVEMENT
Chicago, Jan. 20.—Soviet Russia is open to a large evangelistic and reform movement in the Russian church and outside of the Russian church, according to Bishop John I. Nuelson of Zurich, Switzerland, who is in charge of the Methodist Episcopal church activities in Russia and who has recently arrived in the United States after extensive traveling and investigation in that country.

Bishop Nuelson tells of a recent interview with the archbishop of Moscow and the whole governing body of the new Russian church. He was asked many questions regarding the American churches in general and Methodism in particular.

The bishop says: "They told me, 'Our aim is to purge the church of the elements of heathenism and lead the church back to the gospel of Jesus Christ, and to rid it of the monkish idea.'"

Bishop Nuelson quoted the Soviet church dignitaries as saying, "We have to build a new church, which is a free church, and under a republican form of government; we want to build on an evangelistic basis. You have had this experience in America, you can tell us how to do this thing."

"I received two documents from these men, one an invitation issued by the governing body of the church of Russia to the Methodist Episcopal church to send fraternal messengers to their next conference who will meet in February 1923, in order to advise and guide them in the building up of their church. The second was one inviting the Protestant churches of America to send fraternal messengers to the church of Russia."

"The Board of Bishops have assigned three of its bishops to attend the conference in Russia and the Federal Churches of Christ will also send fraternal messengers."

SUDDEN STORM ADDS REALISM IN FILM PLAY

"Under Two Flags," to be Shown at Capitol, Filmed On Desert

A sand storm, much desired, but wholly unexpected, nearly brought death to the ranks of the Universal unit filming desert scenes for "Under Two Flags," the Universal Jewel screen play at the Capitol theater next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

While another motion picture company packed up its paraphernalia and hastily fled back to Los Angeles, the three hundred people from Universal City faced the worst storm that has come to the country around Oxnard, Cal., in years.

Sand, lifted by howling winds from thousands of dunes, drove into the great camp in a barrage that cut ropes, tents and faces. It tore down temporary buildings with the fury of maddened elements. A battery of cameramen under William Fidew "set up" for action, and under Tod Browning's supporting players enacted dramatic desert scenes more realistically than they had ever dreamed of.

All-night long following the storm, a corps of technical men and laborers built wooden structures inside the shredded tents and the next day dawned bright and clear, with scarcely a breeze.

BANK GETS DIRECTED VERDICT FOR $15,202

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 20.—Judgment for $15,202.49 was directed for the plaintiff by federal Judge Andrew Miller last night in the case of the Stockyards National Bank of St. Paul against B. Prom L. Benoit, M. L. Sullivan, Thomas Devany, J. D. Beachamp and George N. Marjotte.

The action concerned a note dated October 15, 1920, for $22,000 given on the Stockyards National bank by W. L. Dodson and signed by the defendants who were directors of the Northern Livestock company of Cavalier county and who had purchased from Mr. Dodson 423 head of Aberdeen Angus cattle.

The company was in bad condition as to money, feed for stock and market, and in November 1920 the cattle, which had been valued at $200 each, were shipped to South St. Paul and there sold for feed stuff, realizing some less than $10,000.

This money was applied on the notes and judgment for the balance was directed by Judge Miller. The case finished the term of federal court here.

EDUCATION BONUS TAKES MUCH OF TAX

Total Is 64 Cents Out of Every Dollar Taxes, Says
Official

Education and the soldiers' bonus take about 64 cents out of every dollar the taxpayers pay to the state for 1922 according to Lyman Baker, deputy tax commissioner. This is almost two-thirds of the total levied.

According to a table which Mr. Baker made up to show just what will be done with the $4,762,907 levied as the general property tax of the state for 1922 the four important items of expenditure are as follows:

Education—36.85 cents of every tax dollar.

Soldiers' bonus—27.47 cents.

State bond interest—10.99 cents.

Penal and charitable institutions—10.02 cents.

This means that 85.33 cents of the taxpayers' dollar is spent for these four items and that only 14.67 cents is left for the other items such as the state departments, legislatures, boards, commissions and numerous smaller items.

These figures are based on the general property tax but the percentage of the money spent for the various uses remains much the same for the special tax as well, according to Mr. Baker. There are a few exceptions in that some of the special taxes are levied for special purposes such as hunting licenses which help to pay for the upkeep of the state game and fish board.

The figures are based on an assessed value, in the state, of $1,308,491,094.

FOUR-YEAR TERM PLAN FAVORED IN GRANT CO.

Carson, N. D., Jan. 20.—At a meeting here at which temporary organization of the Grant County Taxpayers' association was perfected, resolutions were adopted to the following effect:

Indorsing and heartily favoring a law providing for the election of all state and county officers for terms of four years each with no re-election. Supreme and district court judges are exempted.

Favoring a law to prohibit county commissioners from entering into any contract for road and bridge work exceeding $1000 each without such contract and project having the approval of the county engineer or the approval of the state engineer in counties having no county engineer.

Favoring a law whereby a school district with a low valuation may not be deprived of its share of schools by reason of not having sufficient funds from tax moneys collected in such district.

CULLING OF POULTRY PAYS

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—Forty-six percent of the hens in 373 flocks that were culled in North Dakota by farmers in cooperation with the poultry department of the North Dakota Agricultural College last fall and winter, were found to be poor producers or culls, according to figures compiled by O. A. Barton, poultry specialist at the college.

Poultry culling demonstrations were held in 31 counties of the state. Richland county leading with 39 flocks culled, although in Dickey county 3,078 birds were handled as against 2,880 in Richland county, the figures show.

SOVIET RUSSIA OPEN TO EVANGELISTIC MOVEMENT

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Soviet Russia is open to a large evangelistic and reform movement in the Russian church and outside of the Russian church, according to Bishop John L. Kuelson of Zurich, Switzerland, who is in charge of the Methodist Episcopal church activities in Russia and who has recently arrived in the United States after extensive traveling and investigation in that country.

Bishop Kuelson tells of a recent interview with the archbishop of Moscow and the whole governing body of the new Russian church. He was asked many questions regarding the American churches in general and Methodism in particular.

The bishop says: "They told me, 'Our aim is to purge the church of the elements of heretism and lead the church back to the gospel of Jesus Christ, and to rid it of the monkish idea.'"

Bishop Kuelson quoted the Soviet church dignitaries as saying, "We have to build a new church, which is a free church, and under a republican form of government, we want to build on an evangelistic basis. You have had this experience in America, you can tell us how to do this thing."

"I received two documents from these men, one an invitation issued by the governing-body of the church of Russia to the Methodist Episcopal church to send fraternal messengers to their next conference who will meet in February 1923, in order to advise and guide them in the building up of their church. The second was one inviting the Protestant churches of America to send fraternal messengers to the church of Russia."

"The Board of Bishops have assigned three of its bishops to attend the conference in Russia and the Federal Churches of Christ will also send fraternal messengers."

SUDDEN STORM ADDS REALISM IN FILM PLAY

"Under Two Flags," to be Shown at Capitol, Filmed
On Desert

A sand storm, much desired, but wholly unexpected, nearly brought death to the ranks of the Universal unit filming desert scenes for "Under Two Flags," the Universal-Jewel screen play at the Capitol theater next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

While another motion picture company packed up its paraphernalia and hastily fled back to Los Angeles, the three hundred people from Universal City faced the worst storm that has come to the country around Oxnard, Cal., in years.

Sand, lifted by howling winds from thousands of dunes, drove into the great camp in a barrage that cut ropes, tents and faces. It tore down temporary buildings with the fury of maddened elements. A battery of cameramen under William Fildeu "set up" for action, and under Tod Browning's direction Priscilla Dean and her supporting players enacted dramatic desert scenes more realistically than they had ever dreamed of.

All night long following the storm, a corp of technical men and laborers built wooden structures inside the shredded tents and the next day dawned bright and clear, with scarcely a breeze.

BANK GETS DIRECTED VERDICT FOR $15,202

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 20.—Judgment for $15,202.49 was directed for the plaintiff by federal Judge Andrew Miller last night in the case of the Stockyards National Bank of St. Paul against B. Thom, L. Benoit, M. L. Sullivan, Thomas Devany, J. D. Beachamp and George N. Martot.

The action concerned a note dated October 15, 1920, for $22,000 given the Stockyards National bank by W. L. Dodson and signed by the defendants who were directors of the Northern Livestock company of Cavalier county and who had purchased from Mr. Dodson 423 head of Aberdeen Angus cattle.

The company was in bad condition as to money, feed for stock and market, and in November 1920 the cattle, which had been valued at $200 each, were shipped to South St. Paul and there sold for feed stuff, realizing some less than $10,000. This money was applied on the notes and judgment for the balance was directed by Judge Miller. The case finished the term of federal court here.

BEEF SUPPLY INCREASES ON NATION'S FARMS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 20.—Although there are actually fewer beef cattle in the United States at present than there have been in previous years, it is now possible to raise more beef with yearling calves than there were more cattle. This is due to the fact that the beef cattle industry during the last 75 years, the yearbook of the department for 1921, which has just been published, described the growth and changes of practice in the business. The system of using younger cattle for beef purposes, the yearbook explains, involves the use of more harvested feed per 100 pounds of beef produced, since a large proportion of the gains in weight are made in the feed lot than was formerly the case when steers were carried out or five seasons on grass. While the total number of cattle in the country has decreased in recent years, the article states, the situation is not as serious as might appear, since the number of cattle owned is greater now than in any year from 1896 to 1917. Census figures for 1900 and 1920 show there has been an increase in the percentages of beef calves, heifers, cows and bulls, and a decrease in the percentage of steers, especially aged steers. The number of cattle in the country increased from 10,200,000 in 1914 to 1919, and during the last three years there has been a decrease of 2,000,000 head. However, the greater production of cows at present makes it possible to grow more beef, especially if more of the calves, instead of being slaughtered, are fed as yearlings. "That the country can readily respond to a quickened demand for beef, was demonstrated during the war when production was so stimulated that during 1917 and 1918 combined more than one billion pounds of beef were exported, which was a record for the exports of the world during the period," the Yearbook declares. "Since about 1905 South America and Australia have been the chief sources of surplus beef." Americans are eating less beef per capita than formerly, it is stated. The consumption of beef and veal in the United States decreased from 27 pounds per person in 1907 to 60 pounds in 1916. Between the periods 1907 to 1910 and 1911 to 1921 there has been a decrease in consumption amounting to approximately 20 percent. The article includes interesting information on the variations in demand for different kinds of beef in various cities and in changing seasons. High-class hotels, it is noted, want prime, fat and finished beef, while the average housewife wants beef involving less waste. In warm weather the principal demand is for steaks and chops, while in the winter trade demands more roasts and boiling meat. The orthodox Jewish trade uses only the forequarters, while Gentiles, as a rule, prefer hindquarters of beef. A survey made in 1920 showed that that time nearly 32 percent of the beef produced was consumed in the North Atlantic states. The largest amount, or 24 percent, was consumed in the east-north-central division. In other words, more than 65 percent of the total consumption of beef and veal occurred in the territory east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio River and Maryland. The smallest consumption occurred in the South Atlantic division. The survey of the beef-cattle situation, leads to the conclusion, according to the department experts, that the period of liquidation is over, and that when industrial conditions and retail prices permit a normal consumption of beef, cattle producers should be prosperous again.

KENTUCKY LOVE SLAYING 'NEW BYWATERS CASE'; PROSECUTOR TO ASK DEATH PENALTY FOR WOMAN

MRS. LURALEE NOFFSINGER AND (INSET) OLLIE GIBBONS

By NEA Service
Henderson, Ky., Jan. 20.—Will this mauling community of 12,000 souls furnish the United States with a striking parallel to the Thompson-Bywaters murder case which has just stirred the world?
That seems to be a possibility following the announcement by County Attorney Leo King that he will ask the death penalty for Mrs. Luralee Noffsinger, accused of inciting Ollie Gibbons to slay her husband, as well as for Gibbons, charged with striking the death blow with a machinist's hammer.
In London only a few days ago, Mrs. Percy Thompson and Frederick Bywaters died on the gallows after having been convicted under similar charges.
Bywaters, it was proved, stabbed Mrs. Thompson's husband to death. Mrs. Thompson, Bywaters' sweetheart, had urged him to do away with the husband, according to letters read in court. Mrs. Thompson was the first woman hanged in England in 15 years.
Henderson's Parallel.
And here is the sordid Henderson tale out of which the county attorney says he will make a parallel to the London case.
Gus H. Noffsinger, 32, nine months ago, was found dead near the door of his garage, not more than 20 feet from the bedroom where his wife was sleeping.
Noffsinger had been stricken down by blows from his own machinist's hammer. The slaying took place on New Year's Eve.
Ollie Gibbons, 31, mine employee, was seized and charged with the slaying. He was spirited out of Henderson by police who feared the roused populace would lynch him.
Neither his employers nor the other employees knowing his real identity, in Denmark Prince Aage was called the American prince. His habits and tastes were similar to those characterizing the citizen of the United States. Most of his intimate friends were Americans, and their mode of life was his. Soon after the war the Prince visited the United States, plunged into society, and adopted many American ways.
Recently it was thought desirable to use the Prince in an ambassadorial capacity, but with his fortune gone, he was unable to accept a post paying only a small income. So he has entered military life, having the reputation of being one of the finest soldiers in Denmark. The Princess Aage and their five year old son have gone to live in Italy at the home of the Princess's father, Count Calvi di Bergolo.
The winter months, generally regarded in the United States as being December, January and February, are considered in England to be November, December and January.

SHORT COURSE OPENS SOON

Time to Consider New Methods of Farming, Says Dean

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—"When two bushels of butter fat have a market value of one bushel of wheat, two bushels of barley and three bushels of oats, it is time to consider sources of income other than grain raising," is the statement of C. B. Waldron, dean of agriculture at the North Dakota Agricultural College in announcing the short course in Dairy Husbandry to be given at the Agricultural College February 5 to 11 inclusive.
Short courses opened at the Agricultural College January 22, and will continue until March 9. This year the courses are given in units of one week each during which one particular subject is studied.
Meat production was a course offered during the first week and this was followed by a study of forage crops for the second week. Following the Dairy Husbandry Week six days of instruction will be given, each in poultry production, grain crops, potatoes, farm management and farm machinery.

INDIAN RACE NOT DYING OUT

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 20.—The American Indians as a race are not dying, as so many people think. On the contrary, they show this year a slight numerical increase as compared to 12 months ago, according to Dr. E. E. Higley, of Chicago, secretary of the Board of Home Missions of the Methodist Episcopal church.
Dr. Higley disclosed this condition in an address today at the annual meeting in this city of the Home Mission council of the church. The Indian census a year ago showed 340,838 Indians, now they number 349,917.
"There is no field of home missionary endeavor where the spirit and processes of cooperation among these denominational boards and works is more manifested than in the field of christian work among Indians," continued Dr. Higley.
The christian missionary work among Indians, includes a study of the missionary stations and native churches, their economic and spiritual resources. (2) an estimate of the Indian schools, both governmental and mission, their educational status, and the opportunities presented for a unified religious educational program; (3) a survey of the 247 reservations and other communities where Indians are to be found, in an appreciable number.
There are 90,000 Indian boys and girls between five and 16 years of age who are of school age, about 30,000 are enrolled in government schools with 30,000 in public schools, and the remaining 30,000 are still without school privileges. In the Indian schools special emphasis is put upon agriculture and home economics. In the large non-reservation schools many trade courses are provided. The manner in which the Indian Bureau for the last two years has worked for the fuller enrollment of uneducated Indian boys and girls, is matter for favorable comment.
"In the old days the Indian centered everything around his religion, and his religion entered into every phase of his life. He cannot understand a christianity which is not in some way related to his physical well-being, to his planting and his harvesting. At present health conditions in many places are deplorable. The Christian order of the day is for social and community services which are an expression of the religion of Jesus that shall be sufficient for both worlds, this world and the world to come." That social religion appeals to the Indian. The modern program of the rural church among Indians is needed for the young people coming home from school life. They do not want to return to their pagan religions, they know they are false. The church must plan a more careful program for Indian educators which will satisfy the religious, intellectual and social desires of the youth as well as the aged. The church must even use the Indian dialect, but it must emphasize English speech in training native leadership. "The church must discover and develop a trained and native christian leadership for the Indian people should be encouraged, go further than the sixth grade commonly provided by the government reservation schools. Educated Indian farmers and their wives, teachers, and other professional men and women, and a well-trained Indian missionary above all, are urgently needed."

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

Week's Chief Events Briefly Told

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
France having made good her threat to try hurrying up payment of her war claims by a seizure of German territory, a state of affairs exists in Europe which may end in any one of a good many different kinds of trouble.
For instance, a revolution in Germany wouldn't surprise anybody. Any government which permits the country it rules to be invaded by a foreign power's troops is bound to be blamed. This furnishes discontented elements with a chance to grab at control. On one hand, the German "right" might attempt it. On the other hand, the royalists might. Or the Russians might think it an opportune time to try to gain some advantage.
The "little entente," consisting of new, war-formed countries in eastern Europe, is a source of uneasiness. In fact, it's understood their premiers are about to meet at Budapest to adopt a plan, similar to France's, against Hungary.
Italy, just on general principles, is so uneasy that Premier Mussolini has ordered a partial mobilization.
Trouble in western and central Europe by distracting attention from the turbulent Near East, makes Turkey very independent.
The very fact that it's impossible to tell what may happen, or where, only adds to the feeling of anxiety. London and Washington disapprove strongly of what France has done.
It isn't that there's any sympathy at either of these capitals with Germany. They both consider that if the Germans are able to pay, they ought to be compelled to do it. But they regard it as at least very doubtful if doubtful if Germany is able to do so. Just as they were hoping the world was going to settle down, with some prospect of a return to "normalcy," they're much disheartened by France's refusal to abandon a policy calculated to upset everything again.
Premier Bonar Law of England marked his objections to the French course by quitting the conference with the French, Italian and Belgian premiers when he found he wasn't going to be listened to.
It has been learned that Myron T. Herick, United States ambassador to France, without actually protesting against the French advance into the Ruhr, did tell Premier Poincare that the Washington administration was opposed to it. Roland W. Boyden, unofficial American representative on the reparations commission, likewise told the French, Italian and Belgian delegates that he didn't believe Germany could pay France's claims, and said he agreed with England.
The United States too, recalled her few troops still on German soil. They didn't mean much in a military way, but their recall implied a protest.
It seems even Premier Mussolini protested, though Italy voted with France on the reparations commission.
Only Belgium is cooperating wholeheartedly with the French.
France first seized Essen, seat of the great Krupp factories; then Gelsenkirchen, center of the Ruhr coal industry; it's expected still more occupations will follow.
There was a hostile gathering but not much trouble at Essen, Munich also has been the scene of anti-French gathering and Bavaria generally, which is regarded as royalist, is reported excited. The Memel straits in East Prussia, in a state of disorder, reported in some quarters to mean a desire to join the new republic of Lithuania; in others to be anti-French.
The German government, however, sanctioned no resistance to the French invasion, saying it sticks to the Versailles treaty, which it accuses France of breaking. It recalled the German diplomatic representatives from Paris and Brussels and gave notice that all talk of paying war damages to France and Belgium is off until their troops are out of Germany.
German protests against the Ruhr invasion were sent to London and Washington, but it's understood they won't be answered. England and the United States feeling, despite their disapproval of the French course, that there isn't anything they can do about it at present.
There are plenty of signs that the French, now they're in the Ruhr, hardly know what to do next.
TUBERCULOSIS
Dr. Glass has positive proof that he is able to cure tuberculosis by inhalation, in any climate. Dr. Glass is the originator of this treatment, having discovered it in the year 1880. Presumably they counted on dealing with the great Rhine-land Coal Syndicate, but this organization, just before their arrival, moved bag and baggage to Hamburg. It had to leave its properties behind, but they must be worked to enable the French to get anything out of them and the French lack the workers' good will. They might bring their own from home, but moving an entire industrial population is a tremendous undertaking.
The difficulties she faces may be responsible for France's talk now of a considerable extension in the time permitted Germany to meet the damage claims against her. France in the meantime retaining control in the Ruhr and exacting certain other conditions, such as Germany's submission to allied supervision of her finances, to living within her income and to rising an internal loan to stabilize the mark.
But will Germany agree? That probably will depend on the multiplication of her own difficulties and the result of her observation of France's.
When the French government sent troops into the Ruhr, it was interpreted generally as a rejection of Secretary of State Hughes' proposal of an international board of financiers to decide how much Germany was able to pay.
Maybe this was a mistake. It seems the Hughes plan was laid definitely before Premier Poincare, who neither turned it down nor expressed any hostility toward it.
Hopes are entertained that it may be accepted yet, if the Ruhr venture proves a failure. At any rate, it is said the Washington government is keeping the "door open," with a view to a tender of its "good offices" if it receives any intimation that it would be well received.
The Poincare government's position in England and America has not been strengthened by the existence of a widely expressed suspicion in both countries that the Ruhr expedition was dictated by nothing but a hope of gaining political advantage at home through what it thought would be a popular move.
Naturally it's the concessions of opinion that the world's peace never should have been endangered. For any such reason.
Nevertheless it's felt that the government, if such was its motive, will be likely to change its policy very quickly if it finds it made a mistake, what is what it probably will find if it can't get much out of Germany and English and American coldness affects France's own credit unfavorably.

The British "debt commission," led by Chancellor of the Exchequer—Stanley Baldwin, is in conference with the government in Washington concerning settlement of England's war obligations to the United States. England expects to pay every cent, but wants more time and lower interest. These probably will be arranged.
At Lausanne the settlement of England's differences of opinion with Turkey has made fair progress and peace prospects are better. The Turks, however, have not stopped making military preparations.

Can France Force Germany to Pay?

The sudden withdrawal of the last thousand of the American soldiers from the Rhine is interpreted by many Washington correspondents and editorial observers as an emphatic protest on the part of the United States Government against France's invasion of the Ruhr Basin and seizure of "productive guaranties" for the payment of Germany's reparations debt. This attitude on the part of official Washington, it is generally agreed, is due neither to sympathy for Germany nor lack of it for France, but to a conviction that the seizure of guaranties will not solve the reparations problem, and that it opens the door to a host of disastrous possibilities, chief among which is another world war.
Many American papers, on the other hand, wholeheartedly applaud France for restoring to a show of force, "the only language that Germany understands"; and they predict that her course will be fully justified by the results. The German-language press in the United States is pessimistic. "In taking from Germany her richest industrial district the French will deprive themselves of the last chance to get any further reparations," declares the Philadelphia Tageblatt, which thinks that the results of the Ruhr invasion will amount to "French suicide as well as unspeakable misery and chaos for Germany, and possibly civil war in the Reich." Other German-language papers express similar convictions.

Where Do Jokes Originate?

Some one has said that there are only seven original jokes in the world. If this is so, what a vast amount of thought must be expended in furnishing mirth-loving America with material. First and foremost among those who keep the public good natured are the newspaper "Wits" and what is known as typical American humor must be based upon their efforts. The best jokes, the cleverest epigrams, the most humorous incidents as they are printed in the press of the world are eagerly scanned each week by The Literary Digest editors and a selection of them presented upon the screen in motion-picture theaters under the heading "Fun From the Press." This new short reel creates unbounded laughter wherever it is shown. Many hundreds of theaters have booked it and we would suggest that you attend the theater in your locality where "Fun From the Press" is advertised and you will enjoy good entertainment. It is produced by The Literary Digest and distributed to theaters by W. W. Hodgkinson Corporation.

YOUR IMPORTANCE

How important are you, in this gigantic system by which humanity is earning its living? Conceit is proverbial. But only a very small fraction of us exaggerate our importance.

Most of us actually underestimate our importance. Probably this is because we return from vacation or an illness, to find things going ahead just as if we hadn't been away.

The fact that you can be replaced does not lessen your importance when you are "on the job."

Thousands of men can run an airplane. However, this doesn't detract from the importance of the pilot on any given trip. Ask the passengers taking their first flight.

A discouraged young man, in an agony of self-pity, writes a letter bewailing his "trivial function in life." He sees and hears of other men doing "big things." He compares with his own work as a tool maker in a machine shop, and decides that he doesn't amount to much.

Young man, you are wrong.

Men toiled for thousands of years to harness the electricity that drives the motor operating your lathes. Others toiled for thousands of years to find the processes of making the steel and iron with which you turn out your finished products.

Your work is the culmination of the efforts of these vast armies of men of the past. All that went before was preliminary, leading up to you.

In far-off parts of the world, living men toil to bring to the surface of the earth the iron ore which other men make into the steel which you transform into tools. Still others toil to bring this steel to you. Another great group awaits your finished products. Without it, they could not do their own tasks. Ahead in the future are the ultimate consumers whose needs you supply by your daily toil, also the salesmen who depend on your for something to sell.

Many people take street car motormen and conductors as a matter of course—do not attribute to them any great importance. But when the transportation system is tied up, the public suddenly realizes the tremendous and indispensable importance of the car crews.

You see a scrubwoman washing the floors of an office building. In preventing the spread of disease, she may be as important as a physician, for she is an agent of the great force of sanitation, the preventive of disease.

If you are doing useful work in this world, no matter how humble, stand up proudly. For your importance is beyond estimation.

BACK YONDER

The thrill that comes once in a lifetime tingles through the veins of William Jones, driver of Fire Engine No. 2 at West Newton, Mass.

Wandering down a side street, Jones passes the old Davis grammar school. It is being torn down. Among the wreckage he finds the little desk at which he sat, years ago, as a school boy. Memories flood up as William recalls the golden days when he was plain Bill, a small, disillusioned lad in knee pants.

So he sits meditating. A photographer with imagination chances along, clicks his camera—and so we get the story.

Do you remember the little desk you sat at, back yonder in the past, in your early school days? Next time you are in the old home town hunt up the old school house and sit—or try to—at your former desk.

You will get the shock of your life, and you'll wonder how you ever managed to squeeze in. It will seem ridiculously small, that little desk. And it will impress you with the vast and mysterious changes that take place in us humans during life.

Doesn't it start you thinking—the ink bottle with rubber stopper, the gum stuck under the desk, the place you carved your initials, the dusty map on the wall, blackboards erasers, teacher's pointer and the cloakroom where bad boys were sent?

The old school house, in many cases, has long since disappeared at the hands of wreckers. But it cannot be torn down in memory.

It is good that we can keep the old schoolroom and its associations in memory, and that we can turn to them occasionally. The recollection is refreshing, for many of us left the best part of our real selves back yonder. Time has mellowed some, soured and hardened others.

It is rather startling, when you think back over those days and make comparisons with now.

How many of your childhood ideals, ambitions and illusions have you managed to cling to, despite repeated attacks by that arch-robbet—the grim reality of mature life?

And what wouldn't you give to know what's become of all those little lads and lasses who "learned their letters" with you?

If there is anything more pathetic and heart rending than the battered little old school desk we have yet to hear of it.

DRUNK

A man, staggering with intoxication, is arrested in Athens, Ohio. He sobers instantly when he learns he's the victim of a joke, having drunk very mild hooch under the impression it was strong.

His imagination, not alcohol, made him intoxicated. He got drunk because he believed that he would.

If Coue wants to make a million overnight, he should turn his batteries on the thirsty and show them how to get a kick out of near-beer.

Some people favor strict enforcement of the Volstead Act on the ground that if the nation only gets dry enough, it will turn wet.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

A DEFENSE OF THE EGG

The story comes from London of a German baron living in England who had confined himself to an exclusive diet of eggs for a considerable period, not definitely named, and has died in consequence. No reason is given for his limited choice of food. As he was a man of independent means he could not have been governed by financial considerations, and if eggs in England are as high in price as here, there would be no real economy in subsiding on them alone, as he consumed twelve a day regularly. At least there is food costing less than a dozen of eggs that would sustain life for a day and repeated for an indefinite number of days.

Nor is it intimated that the German gentleman was on a prescribed concentrated diet in order to offset a wasting disease, for he was engaged in writing an opera at the time of his death. His preference seems to have been one of the food fads, as when people eat only vegetables or who advocate uncooked food and make a meal of an orange and a handful of nuts. The baron rejected both meat and vegetables, and as he had to eat something and probably liked eggs and knew that they ranked as nourishing food, his choice fell on them. But if the English doctors are to be believed, the exclusive eggs killed him.

It will never do to let this tale get into circulation without protest, for have we not the utmost confidence in eggs? Do we not eat them for our breakfasts—when the price is high—and go away refreshed? Do we not insist that tuberculosis sufferers shall feed on them in order to be strengthened? Milk accompanies them, of course, in such cases, and has its merits, but milk alone is not enough. Do we not—rather, did we not—concoct the savory egg nog in order to bring cheer to the ailing body and the sinking soul? But not to dwell upon the past, are we not advised by health experts to substitute eggs on our tables for meat more than we do, and to eat eggs and more eggs? Is not egg producing one of our chief food industries?

The idea that the egg is a dangerous food even when eaten at the rate of a dozen a day per individual must be squelched in its infancy. The writer of these lines once watched with fascinated eyes a traveler on an Indiana train swiftly consume as his luncheon twelve hard-boiled eggs, and he still lived and looked cheerful when the train pulled into Chicago. Plainly, the German baron in England must have died of something besides eggs. Perhaps in a moment of recklessness he turned from his eggs and consumed one of the less healthy English muffins we read about so often in British novels and that reckless adventurer occasionally find in our bakeries and experiment with—Chicago Post.

ROCKEFELLER'S SAGACITY

What the average man cannot get through his head is the idea of dividing his life between two periods—one of requisition and the other of distribution. John D. Rockefeller sensed this and has reached the age of 83 doing it and playing golf, with his mind active enough with his distributions so as to keep him vitally interested, undistracted by his other associations. In Standard Oil who failed to do it have passed off. But Mr. Rockefeller had the divination to see that a time comes to a man who has acquired when he must cease taking out of the world and begin putting something into it. A man's life is like the soil of a farm: the point comes when he must put into the soil what he has taken out, else life becomes barren and unproductive.

We need not amass the fortune of a Rockefeller. His is an extreme case of enormous wealth. It is not so much the man who has made money as the large quantity of the man who has large executive ability, who has used this gift from God to build himself up and his family—who, having acquired ample means, is entirely able, if he wishes, to turn his ability from further personal aggrandizement to a similar achievement in a field where he will build up some effective instrument for others. The sooner this man realizes that no inner and complete satisfaction will come to him if he persists in his self-centered course, the sooner he gets the truth into his mind that from those to whom much has been given much is expected; the sooner it comes to him that what is his today has come to him from the public and should in a measure go back to that public: the sooner he realizes that we who are fathers will in the future be remembered by our children, not by the money we were able to make and pile up, but by what we did with it when we got it—the sooner we will see a more contented race of American men instead of a growing proportion of men who, in offices and on the street and on golf-courses, are dreading their hearts overworked in the race for more power, more money, and more self-centered achievement.—Edward Bok in Scribner's.

The word "bulldoze" found its way into the dictionary just after the Hayes-Tilden presidential contest, when a negro used it in describing before an election investigation board how he was prevented from voting.

The ancient Greeks called the coronation "the flower of the gods," used it as a charnel from which the word "coronation" is said to have been saluted at great banquets.

THE INSTALLMENT PLAN HAS ITS DISCOMFORTS

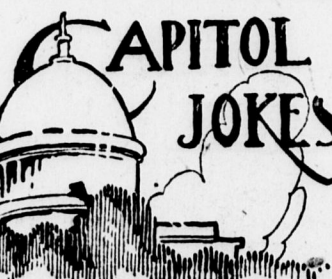

WHAT GOVERNMENT CONTROL COST THE TAXPAYERS

"Although on March 1 it will be three years since the railways were returned to private operation," says the Railway Age, "it is still impossible to say how much government control of railroads will finally cost the taxpayers of the United States, but statistics now available show that the total will be approximately $1,700,000,000. The recent annual report of the Interstate Commerce Commission gives information regarding this matter that has attracted less attention than it deserves."

"When Walker D. Hines retired as director-general of railroads in 1920 he estimated the total deficit which had been incurred during the 26 months of actual government operation at $900,478,756. Mr. Hines' estimate was based upon the assumption that the railways would not be able to substantiate their claims for large indemnities because of failure of the government adequately to maintain their properties. The railways, however, have been able to present such conclusive evidence of under maintenance that the Railroad Administration has allowed claims upon this ground amounting to $125,428,810 and officially estimates that additional claims that will have to be allowed will amount to $97,167,554. The Interstate Commerce Commission estimates that it will have to allow claims of the short line railroads for deficits incurred in the first six months of government control which will add $15,000,000 to the foregoing amounts. The expenses incurred by the Railroad Administration from March 1, 1920, to January 1, 1922, in collecting the data and carrying on the negotiations in effecting settlement of the accounts of the government with the railways arising from government operation, amounted to $3,445,222. These items total $1,141,520,452 as the deficit actually chargeable to government operation during the 26 months ending March, 1920."

"When the railways were returned to private operation they were incurring deficits at a higher rate than ever before because of failure of the Railroad Administration to make sufficient advances in rates to cover the increased expenses. In addition, demands of the employees were pending for large advances in wages which subsequently were granted by the Railroad Labor Board. Therefore the government continued the guarantees for a period of six months. The Interstate Commerce Commission in its recent annual report estimated at $536,000,000 the amount that the government will have to pay the railway companies to reimburse them for the deficits incurred during these six months. We arrive then at the following result: Deficit due to 26 months of government operation $1,141,520,452 Deficit under guarantees for first six months under private operation 536,000,000

Total deficit due to government control $1,677,520,452 "When all the settlements are finally made with the railway companies the total deficits incurred as a result of the government having taken over the railroads and which the taxpayers will have had to pay probably will be even larger than this. The average for the 26 months of actual government operation was $44,000,000 a month and the average for the entire 32 months during which the railways were guaranteed the 'standard return' will be about $52,000,000 a month. The country's first experience with government operation of its railroads has been an expensive one for everybody but most expensive of all for taxpayers."

There isn't anything essentially funny in spending seven months in any army hospital with death from heart disease just around the corner every minute. Such was my experience.

But there is a grim sort of humor among the patients and attendants in such a hospital.

When I first was brought in I overheard one of the other new patients ask the orderly:

"What's this 'M. D. U. S. A.' that's printed or painted on all the supplies around here mean?"

"Oh, that means, 'Many die, you shall also,'" the orderly laughed.

A THOUGHT

Casting all your care upon Him, for He careth for you—1 Peter 5:7. And yet I want Him to care for me while I live in this world where the shadows be.

When the lights die down from the path I take, When strength is feeble and friends forsake,

When love and music that once did bless, Have left me to silence and loneliness,

And my life-song changes to sobbing prayers, Then my heart cries out for a God who cares.

BILLS INTRODUCED

S. B. 44, 45, 46, Baird, Stark, (Ind.). At request of the North Dakota Good Roads association. These three are companion bills, the first establishing a state highway commission of three members, the ultimate terms being for six years, and who shall be paid only for such time they actually are official duties. The work would be general supervision of all road building in the state. Details of the method of organization are set forth. The second measure S. B. 45 re-enacts the present motor vehicle licensing department laws, increases the auto license fees and is designed to provide the funds whereof the Good Roads association demands for the establishment of the highway commission. The other measure S. B. 46 is a concurrent resolution providing for an amendment to the state constitution creating the state highway commission, the establishing of the system of state highways and for the establishment of the system of the state highways and for the establishment of a state highway fund. All three measures follow closely the method used in the operation of the road building department in Minnesota under the well-known "Babecek plan." (Referred to Committee on Highways).

S. B. 47, Hamilton, McHenry, (N.). This measure is intended to provide methods whereby farm warehouse receipts may be made collateral for loans. It is designed especially to permit the bonding of granaries now on the place, and eliminating the need of building new grain storehouses. It places the control and supervision under the state inspection department and directly specifies the Supervisor of Grades, Weights and Measures as the chief officer. The measure differs in this respect from a measure previously introduced S. B. 2, Telford, which authorized the naming of a warehouse inspector by county commissioners and the register of deeds of each county the recording officer. Both measures meet to some extent the suggestion of Gov. Nestos in his message. (Com. on Warehouse and Grain grading.)

S. B. 48, Kelsch, Dickey, (Ind.). Would revise the present system of fixing salaries of county officers so as to make the maximum paid $2,500 per year. It would further pay the same salary to each official—auditor, treasurer, judge, clerk of court, sheriff, register of deeds, county superintendent. The salary would be based on population of the county the minimum being fixed at 1,500 per annum, and graduated upward $100 for each 1,000 population. In case no deputy is hired the officer shall be granted $300 to $500 additional pay by the commissioners. The author contends the measure is a much more equitable method than the present and the cost to the counties would be increased only from $98,430 to $102,300. (Elections Com.)

S. B. 49, Steel, Stutsman, (Ind.). Making Spanish American War veterans eligible to appointments as commanders of the state soldiers home at Lisbon, now limited to G. A. R. member. (Military affairs.)

S. B. 50, Porter, Cavalier, (Ind.). Provides for placing of the newspapers on the primary ballot, eliminating all but two contestants in the general election; requiring newspapers to have been established a year prior to 30 days previous to any election, restoring the old definition of a legal newspaper. (Public printing.)

S. B. 51, Porter, Cavalier, (Ind.). Providing for drastic action in the costs to counties of publishing delinquent tax lists; correcting errors by which the tax list was held to come under the 1921 fee law; providing for compensation of 18 cents per line first insertion and 6 cents per line for each of two subsequent insertions of the lists. Cuts double price charges from compensation allowed for publishing county commissioners proceedings to straight 9 cents per line, and orders all school treasurers statements published at not to exceed nine cents a line, all three classes of printing to be set in single column measure. (Public printing.)

S. B. 52, Rusch, Cass, (Ind.). By request of the county commissioners association. Makes radical changes in the present mother's pension law. Gives the county judge jurisdiction subject to approval of the commissioners. Conditions of allowance are changed to make only mothers of legitimate children pensionable providing that both husband and wife were residents of North Dakota at the time of his death and had been for three years previously, also two years in the county. The measure further tightens up the general requirements, the age limit of children at which pension ceases, and permits cancellation at any time on good cause by the county commissioners. (Com. Women's and Children's Welfare.)

S. B. 53, Baker, Renville, (N.). Introduced at request of the state commissioner of insurance. Provides for the adoption in North Dakota of Minnesota system for supervision of fire insurance rate schedules. Establishes an authoritative agency to which grievances of insured may be presented, against insurance companies, functioning much the same as the state railroad commission. The commissioner of insurance is given the power to hear all complaints on rates and render decisions, making it optional with him to engage special assistants if occasion demands. A small appropriation—$1,000—is asked. Mr. Olmstead cites the need of the measure and further calls attention to the fact that W. C. Taylor, former commissioner of insurance, twice tried to have a similar bill passed. (Com. on Insurance.)

S. B. 54, Baker, Renville, (N.). Passed by Senate. Passed by House. Providing that debtors may pay loans advanced by the department of university and school lands by paying principle and the interest up to date, and not forcing payment of interest for the whole calendar year.

JACQUETTE—THAT'S NAME OF SMART NEW BLOUSE

The new blouse is called a jacquette and it may be of various kinds. The bottom is frequently banded, occasionally flared and is practically always hip length. Its sleeves are bell-shaped and three-quarter length. The neck is usually v-shaped.

Different authorities differ about the details of this jacquette, however, and the only point on which they really agree is that it must be severely tailored with not a frill to break its smart simplicity.

Navy blue and the new browns are the favorite colors with black, lucifer, green and fog following. The material oftentimes used is mull-lace or embroidered satin or crepe.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

To the editor of The Tribune:
A touching story of six-year old Mary, the spotty, freckled face child with cross eyes, appeared in the Tribune of recent date.

Because little Mary was not of the standard type in external beauty though she might have had a most beautiful soul, she could not be placed in a regulation, standard home, for it is only on rare occasions that a woman comes to a child placing agency and asks for a child that nobody else wants.

It is only fair to the public that they should know the other side of the story which pertains too many Marys and Johnnies. Our present legislative body should also know it.

There would be no children for placing if something had not gone wrong somewhere in the family life. The problem resolves itself into a question of "Kind of applicants for children and kind of children for placing." The applicants are of various description. Some are of the highest type desiring a child for love; others are families want a child for purposes of exploitation.

The children whom it is necessary to place are those who have been deprived of parent or parents by death or who are of illegitimate birth. In many of the latter instances the child is well born so far as the blood stream goes. In other instances the children are born from those of low repute, children of the V. Ds, the I's, the F. Ms, the Ts.

This class of children is brought to the child placing agencies also and must be expected to be found so, then, and during their tender years, no one knows whether they will divert or revert to type. The future of this kind of child is uncertain.

There is no place in the state of North Dakota where children of defective parentage may be placed for long periods of observation to note whether they shall turn out sound and thus be the kind of child which individuals wish or not.

It is a fact that families of good ancestry will not take a child of shady ancestry, and yet present conditions in the state make it necessary to place both kinds of children.

Recently a certain judge issued an order removing a small child from a certain family and asked that the child placing agency find a home for the child. The only home which could be found for such a child for in one of substandard record. The child was born in an institution of the state where no opportunities in development could be offered. The child was bright appearing and good looking, but the future alone can determine the mental outcome of the child. Under existing circumstances there is no place in the state for the child except a private home.

The only thing which could possibly be thought to meet those needs in the state is the home for girl mothers which is subsidized by the state to the amount of a few thousand dollars annually. The Humane Society of the state receive the sum of $500 a year although if a strict interpretation of the law were required, this money could only be expended in the protection of dumb animals.

These, and other charitable institutions of the state, however, expend thousands of dollars annually for child welfare. While the state of North Dakota spends almost nothing in this way, other states, and young as North Dakota, expend thousands of dollars. It is hoped that the present legislature may be able to enact something worth while in the line of legislation in this field.

For Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the Eltinge attraction will be "East is West" with Constance Talmadge in the role of Ming Toy. The stage version of "East is West" with Fay Bainter in the leading role has been seen in Bismarck. Its filming marks Constance Talmadge's first really big—or perhaps serious—picture. It is picture. It is directed by Sidney A. Franklin, who made "Smilin' Through." It has claims to Oriental sumptuousness unsurpassed in the annals of production. And altogether it is one of those things which don't come often enough.

Naturally, Constance Talmadge takes the role of Ming Toy, the part made famous on the stage by Fay Bainter; but Miss Talmadge has carried the character to lengths impossible on any stage. She has made it her biggest achievement, a composite of comedy and drama throughout every moment, from her escape from the auction block of the Chinese Love Boat to her arrival in Chinatown, San Francisco, where the desire to speak "dignified American language" and make "nice dance like shimmy" almost forces her into marriage with Charlie Yung. BISMARCK AND THE FUTURE
By G. N. Livdahl
Bismarck is the Capital city of the great State of North Dakota and is destined to be its largest and most important as well. Its geographical location, its railways and highways, across the Missouri, as well as its many other peculiar facilities, make Bismarck as important a center of trade and industry as it is in politics and other lines.

The Capital City offers every advantage to business in all its branches. Wholesale and distributing establishments can here find unlimited possibilities, unequalled facilities, and loyal support. As the trading center of a vast area of fertile farm lands, of untold riches in coal and clay products, of tremendous possibilities in dairying and live stock and poultry production, its future can not be overestimated. The possible industries of this state, with many natural resources, with unlimited possibilities in power and raw materials, are now only a matter of conjecture and will in the future be realized beyond our wildest dreams of today. Bismarck will be an industrial center and its opportunities as a labor market will attract hosts untold, with consequent increase in business of all kinds. There is every indication that the population of Bismarck will increase at a constantly exhilarated rate and should reach 25000 by 1933.

The school facilities of the city will be increased at a rapid rate. The demand for grade school buildings with modern playgrounds, utilities and conveniences, is annually becoming more pressing and will in the near future result in new buildings of modern construction in all parts of the city. In order to supply the demands for adequate space and equipment a central high school of at least three times the size and proportions of the one in present use will be erected in the near future. THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

YOUR IMPORTANCE

How important are you, in this gigantic system by which humanity is earning its living? Conceit is proverbial. But only a very small fraction of us exaggerate our importance. Most of us actually underestimate our importance. Probably this is because we return from vacation or an illness, to find things going ahead just as if we hadn't been away. The fact that you can be replaced does not lessen your importance when you are "on the job."

Thousands of men can run an airplane. However, this doesn't detract from the importance of the pilot on any given trip. Ask the passengers taking their first flight. A discouraged young man, in an agony of self-pity, writes a letter bewailing his "trivial function in life." He sees and hears of other men doing "big things." He compares with his own work as a tool maker in a machine shop, and decides that he doesn't amount to much.

Young man, you are wrong. Men toiled for thousands of years to harness the electricity that drives the motor operating your lathes. Others toiled for thousands of years to find the processes of making the steel and iron with which you turn out your finished products.

Your work is the culmination of the efforts of these vast armies of men of the past. All that went before was preliminary, leading up to you.

In far-off parts of the world, living men toil to bring to the surface of the earth the iron ore which other men make into the steel which you transform into tools. Still others toil to bring this steel to you. Another great group awaits your finished products. Without it, they could not do their own tasks. Ahead in the future are the ultimate consumers whose needs you supply by your daily toil, also the salesmen who depend on your for something to sell.

Many people take street car motormen and conductors as a matter of course—do not attribute to them any great importance. But when the transportation system is tied up, the public suddenly realizes the tremendous and indispensable importance of the car crews.

You see a scrubwoman washing the floors of an office building. In preventing the spread of disease, she may be as important as a physician, for she is an agent of the great force of sanitation, the preventive of disease.

If you are doing useful work in this world, no matter how humble, stand up proudly. For your importance is beyond estimation.

BACK YONDER

The thrill that comes once in a lifetime tangles through the veins of William Jones, driver of Fire Engine No. 2 at West Newton, Mass.

Wandering down a side street, Jones passes the old Davis grammar school. It is being torn down. Among the wreckage he finds the little desk at which he sat, years ago, as a school boy. Memories flood up as William recalls the golden days when he was plain Bill, a small, disillusioned lad in knee pants.

So he sits meditating. A photographer with imagination chances along, clicks his camera—and so we get the story.

Do you remember the little desk you sat at, back yonder in the past, in your early school days? Next time you are in the old home town hunt up the old school house and sit—or try to—at your former desk.

You will get the shock of your life, and you'll wonder how you ever managed to squeeze in. It will seem ridiculously small, that little desk. And it will impress you with the vast and mysterious changes that take place in us humans during life.

Doesn't it start you thinking—the ink bottle with rubber stopper, the gum stuck under the desk, the place you carved your initials, the dusty map on the wall, blackboards erasers, teacher's pointer and the cloakroom where bad boys were sent?

The old school house, in many cases, has long since disappeared at the hands of wreckers. But it cannot be torn down in memory.

It is good that we can keep the old schoolroom and its associations in memory, and that we can turn to them occasionally. The recollection is refreshing, for many of us left the best part of our real selves back yonder. Time has mellowed some, soured and hardened others.

It is rather startling, when you think back over those days and make comparisons with now. How many of your childhood ideals, ambitions and illusions have you managed to cling to, despite repeated attacks by that arch-rover—the grim reality of mature life?

And what wouldn't you give to know what's become of all those little lads and lasses who "learned their letters" with you?

If there is anything more pathetic and heart rending than the battered little old school desk we have yet to hear of it.

DRUNK

A man, staggering with intoxication, is arrested in Athens, Ohio. He sobers instantly when he learns he's the victim of a joke, having drunk very mild beer under the impression it was strong.

His imagination, not alcohol, made him intoxicated. He got drunk because he believed that he would.

If Cope wants to make a million overnight, he should turn his batteries on the thirsty and show them how to get a kick out of near-beer.

Some people favor strict enforcement of the Volstead Act on the ground that if the nation only gets dry enough, it will turn wet.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

A DEFENSE OF THE EGG

The story comes from London of a German baron living in England who had confined himself to an exclusive diet of eggs for a considerable period, not definitely named, and has died in consequence. No reason is given for his limited choice of food. As he was a man of independent means, he could not have been governed by financial considerations, and if eggs in England are as high in price as here, there would be no real economy in subsiding on them alone, as he consumed twelve a day regularly. At least there is food costing less than a dozen of eggs that would sustain life for a day and repeated for an indefinite number of days.

Nor is it intimated that the German gentleman was on a prescribed concentrated diet in order to offset a wasting disease, for he was engaged in writing an opera at the time of his death. His preference seems to have been one of the food fads, as when people eat only vegetables or who advocate uncooked food and make a meal of an orange and a handful of nuts. The baron rejected both meat and vegetables, and as he had to eat something and probably liked eggs and knew that they ranked as nourishing food, his choice fell upon them. But the English doctors are to be believed, the exclusive eggs killed him.

It will never do to let this tale get into circulation without protest, for have we not the utmost confidence in eggs? Do we not eat them for our breakfasts—when the price admits—and go away refreshed? Do we not insist that tuberculous sufferers should feed on them in order to be strengthened? Milk accompanies them, of course, in such cases, and has its merits, but milk alone is not enough. Do we not—or rather, did we not—concoct the savory eggnog in order to bring cheer to the ailing body and the sinking soul? But not to dwell upon the past, as we are advised by health experts to substitute eggs on our tables for meat more than we do, and to eat eggs and more eggs? Is not egg producing one of our chief food industries?

The idea that the egg is a dangerous food even when eaten at the rate of a dozen a day per individual must be questioned in its infancy. The writer of these lines once watched with fascinated eyes a traveler on an Indiana train swiftly consume as his luncheon twelve hard-boiled eggs, and he still lived and looked cheerful when the train pulled into Chicago. Plainly, the German baron in England must have died of something besides eggs. Perhaps he ate too many of them. He turned from his eggs and consumed one of those lendlike English muffins we read about so often in British novels and that reckless adventurers occasionally find in our bakeries and experiment with—Chicago Post.

ROCKEFELLER'S SAGACITY

What the average man cannot get through his head is the idea of dividing his life between two periods—one of acquisition and the other of distribution. John D. Rockefeller sensed this and has reached the age of 83 doing it and playing golf, with his mind active enough with his distributions so as to keep him mentally interested. While all his other associates in Standard Oil who failed to do it have passed off. But Mr. Rockefeller had the divination to see that a time comes to a man who has acquired when he must cease taking out of the world and begin putting something into it. A man's life is like the soil of a farm; the point comes when he must put in to the soil what he has taken out, else life becomes barren and unproductive.

We need not amass the fortune of a Rockefeller. His is an extreme case of enormous wealth. It is not so much the man who has made money in large quantities as the man who has large executive ability, who has used his gift from God to build himself up and his family—who, having acquired ample means, is entirely able, if he wishes, to turn his ability from further personal aggrandizement to a similar achievement in a field where he will build up some effective instrument for others. The sooner this man realizes that no inner and complete satisfaction will come to him if he persists in his self-centered course, the sooner he gets the truth into his mind that from those to whom much has been given much is expected; the sooner it comes to him that what is his today has come to him from the work of others, and in measure to be given to the public, the sooner he realizes that we who are fathers will in the future be remembered by our children, not by the money we were able to make and pile up, but by what we did with it when we got it—the sooner we will see a more contented race of Americans, less dependent on a growing proportion of men who, in offices and on the street and on rail-courses are drowning in their tracks from strains on their hearts, overworked in the race for more power, more money, and more self-centered achievement.—Edward Bok in Scribner's.

The word "childlike" found its way into the dictionary just after the Hayes-Tilden presidential contest, when a negro used it in describing before an election investigation board how he was prevented from voting.

The ancient Greeks called the coronation "the flower of the code," and it as a chariot from which the word "coronation" is said to have been said at great banquets.

THE INSTALLMENT PLAN HAS ITS DISCOMFORTS

WHAT GOVERNMENT CONTROL COST THE TAXPAYERS

"Although on March 1 it will be three years since the railways were returned to private operation," says the Railway Age, "it is still impossible to say how much government control of railroads will finally cost the taxpayers of the United States, but statistics now available show that the total will be approximately $1,700,000,000. The recent annual report of the Interstate Commerce Commission gives information regarding this matter that has attracted less attention than it deserves."

"When Walker D. Hines retired as director-general of railroads in 1920 he estimated the total deficit which had been incurred during the 26 months of actual government operation at $800,478,756. Mr. Hines' estimate was based upon the assumption that the railways would not be able to substantiate their claims for large expenditures because of failure of government adequately to maintain their properties. The railways, however, have been able to present such conclusive evidence of under maintenance that the Railroad Administration has allowed claims, upon this ground amounting to $125,428,810 and officially estimates that additional claims that will have to be allowed will amount to $97,147,964. The Interstate Commerce Commission estimates that it will have to allow claims of the short line railroads for deficits incurred in the first six months of government control which will add $150,000,000 to the foregoing amounts. The expenses incurred by the Railroad Administration from March 1, 1920, to January 1, 1922, in collecting the data and carrying on the negotiations incidental to effecting settlement of the accounts of the government with the railways amounting to $3,445,222. These items total $1,141,520,452 as the deficit actually chargeable to government operation during the 26 months ending March, 1920."

"When the railways were returned to private operation they were incurring deficits at a higher rate than ever before because of failure of the Railroad Administration to make sufficient advances in wages to cover the increased expenses. In addition, demands of the employees were pending for large advances in wages which subsequently were granted by the Railroad Labor Board. Therefore the government continued the guarantees for a period of six months. The Interstate Commerce Commission in its recent annual report estimated at $500,000,000 the amount that the government will have to pay the railway companies to reimburse them for the deficits incurred during these six months. We arrive then at the following result: Deficit due to government operation..... $1,141,520,452 Deficit under guarantees for first six months under private operation..... 530,000,000

Total deficit due to government control..... $1,671,520,452 "When all the settlements are finally made with the railway companies the total deficits incurred as a result of the government having taken over the railroads and which the taxpayers will have had to pay probably will be even larger than this. The average for the 25 months of actual government operation will be about $44,000,000 a month and the average for the entire 32 months during which the railways were guaranteed the standard return will be about $52,000,000 a month. The country's first experience with government operation of its railroads has been an expensive one for everybody but most expensive of all for taxpayers."

There isn't anything essentially funny in spending seven months in any army hospital with death from heart disease just around the corner every minute. Such was my experience.

"But there is a grim sort of humor among the patients and attendants in such a hospital."

When I first was brought in I overheard one of the other new patients ask the orderly:

"What's this 'M. D. U. S. A.' that's printed or painted on all the supplies around here mean?"

"Oh, that means, 'Many die, you shall also,'" the orderly laughed.

A THOUGHT

Casting all your care upon Him, for He careth for you.—1 Peter 5:7. And yet I want Him to care for me while I live in this world where the shadows be.

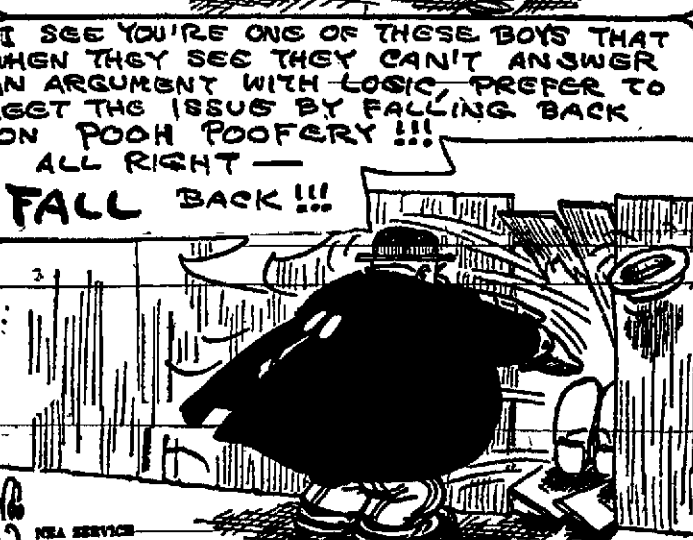

When the lights die down from the path I take,
When strength is feeble and friends forsake,
When love and music that once did bless,
Have left me to silence and loneliness.

And my life-song changes to sobbing prayers,
Then my heart cries out for a God who cares.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

"Here's a letter that's been here 'most a hundred years," said Mr. Stamps, the fairy postmaster in the hickory tree postoffice. "The more I look at it the less I can read it, and the less I can read it the less I want to look at it."

He handed it over to Nancy and Nick who looked at it with their magical glasses. "Why it's written in Chinese!" declared Nick.

"Then what's to be done?" asked Mr. Stamps in a despairing voice. "Why I couldn't even read a laundry check from a Chinese laundry, to save my life."

Nancy looked again. "It's to Mr. Tinkle T. Thingaling," she said. "That's the fairy landlord!" cried Nick. "Why can't he be writing to him from China?"

"And at this time of year, too!" added Mr. Stamps. "Surely nobody is house hunting now. The snow's not off the ground yet and won't be for weeks 'n' weeks. Some of the wood folk are still in south, but most of them are in Dreamland. And I don't know of anybody who's gone to China."

"We'll take it to Mr. Thingaling at once," said Nick. "There is no use in guessing any longer."

So off went the Twins to the fairy landlord's house in Whispering Forest and knocked on his front door.

Mr. Thingaling was out chopping wood, but he heard them.

"Well, for goodness sake!" he cried joyfully. "Look who's here! What! A letter! From China! I'll have to read it."

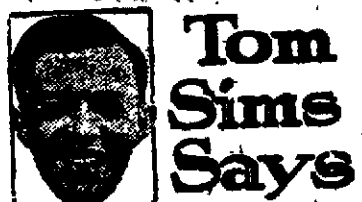

But Nancy and Nick had to help him with their magical glasses. The letter said:

"Dear Mr. Thingaling: I would like to live in another house. Farmer Brown makes me sit all day on a China egg because I'm a Chinese chicken. Can you fix it? Yours, Mrs. Henrietta Cochran Hen."

"Oh, ho, ho!" laughed the fairy landlord. "I'll have to help her if it's not too late. I never believed in China eggs any more. Thank you, kiddies, and goodbye! Come and see me again soon."

LOW PRICES OF WHEAT REACHED IN WHEAT PIT

Chicago, Jan. 1.—Lowest prices of the week were touched in the wheat market today during the early dealings. Reports that cargoes of wheat originally intended for Germany were being diverted into England and had a bearish effect. On the other hand continued dry weather in the domestic winter wheat belt failed to obscure more than a temporary restraining influence on prices. The opening which ranged from 1/2c decline to 1-3/4c advance was followed by a moderate setback all around.

EQUITY ELECTS THIEL TO HIS OLD POSITION

Fargo, Jan. 20.—G. A. Thiel, against whom as secretary of the Equity Co-operative Exchange, former President J. M. Anderson brought charges of falsifying books, aiding and abetting enemies of the company and others of similar nature, the effect of which was to almost disrupt the exchange, was re-elected secretary of the exchange by the board of directors yesterday. Louis Nottmeyer, acting president since Anderson was given a leave of absence following his refusal to resign as president at the request of certain of the directors, was elected president; Magnus Johnson is vice president; and H. J. Kaiser, treasurer.

J. E. Kelly, O. H. Olson and Nels Magnusson were re-elected to the board of directors, and H. L. Hendrickson and Paul Moore, both of Iowa, were named to fill the two places on the board created when the stockholders enlarged the board from nine to 11 members.

The convention of stockholders of the exchange, which opened Tuesday forenoon, ended yesterday with peace and harmony prevailing, at least on the surface, but the directors will remain in session here for several days. They will meet with committees from the exchange and from the grain poolers and will endeavor to settle the $114,000 suit

PEACE RESTORED.

The negotiations were completed yesterday after a day of many conferences between the present board, stockholders and the members of the old board. As a result of the dismissal of the receivership the board may now go ahead and finance the institution with the ultimate aim of re-opening the plant at the earliest possible moment, it was said last evening.

A PASSING FANCY.

LOW PRICES OF WHEAT REACHED IN WHEAT PIT

Chicago, Jan. 1.—Lowest prices of the week were touched in the wheat market today during the early dealings. Reports that cargoes of wheat originally intended for Germany were being diverted into England and had a bearish effect. On the other hand continued dry weather in the domestic winter wheat belt failed to observe more than a temporary restraining influence on prices. The opening which ranged from the decline to 1-3c advance was followed by a moderate setback all around.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE
Notice is hereby given that default has been made in the terms and conditions of that certain mortgage, dated October 22nd, A. D. 1917, filed for record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Burleigh County, North Dakota, on the 30th day of November, A. D. 1917, at 10 o'clock A. M., and duly recorded in Book 151 of Mortgages, on page 87, and said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises in such mortgage and hereinafter described, at the front door of the court house, in the City of Bismarck, in the County of Burleigh and State of North Dakota, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, on the 27th day brought by the poolers against the exchange.

Declaring that the volume of business has largely increased and more than $26,000 accumulated for reserve and distribution as patronage dividends, the Equity Exchange called on all stockholders and supporters to support the Farmers Union Live Stock Commission with agencies at South St. Paul and Chicago.

PEACE RESTORED.
Fargo, Jan. 20.—Peace was restored and factionalism eliminated in another co-operative enterprise when stipulations were entered into by all parties concerned to have the receivership instituted a few days ago against the Equity Co-operative Packing Company of Fargo dismissed, as well as the cases started by the present board against the old board of directors.
The negotiations were completed yesterday after a day of many conferences between the present board, stockholders and the members of the old board. As a result of the dismissal of the receivership the board may now go ahead and finance the institution with the ultimate aim of re-opening the plant at the earliest possible moment, it was said last evening.

INCREASE IN CATTLE ON FEED

There were 25 percent more cattle on feed in the eleven corn belt states on January 1, 1923, than on January 1, 1922, according to the estimate made by the division of Crop and Livestock estimates of the United States Bureau of Agricultural Economics. This 25 percent increase is indicated for both groups of states.—those east and those west of the Mississippi river. The estimate of December 1 showed an increase of 27 percent over December 1, 1921, but at that date, the six states west of the river showed an increase of 30 percent, and the five states east an increase of 20 percent.

Of the states east of the river, all showed an increase of percentage over December 1, except Illinois, which continued to show 35 percent over last year, followed by Ohio with 25 percent, Wisconsin 20 percent, Indiana, 10 percent and Michigan 5 percent. Of the states west of the river, three showed a decrease in percentage over December 1, Iowa, from 10 to 8 percent, Missouri from 25 to 16 percent and Nebraska showed an increase from 25 percent to 35 percent and South Dakota and Minnesota remained the same.

These decreases were due to the heavy marketings of short fed cattle during December and to the advancing prices of corn and other feed which caused a good many feeders to refrain from putting on feed cattle bought for that purpose with the expectation of cheap corn, also, the reports as to the increased purchases of feeding cattle and increased numbers on feed tended to the same effect. At the same time, the movement of stocker and feeder cattle into these states during December continued heavy as shown by the weekly reports of this movement, which have been issued every week by the Division of Livestock and Meats of the Bureau, both from Washington and Chicago. The December movement from 43 markets into the eleven states was 248,900 head, compared with 155,600 in 1921, 168,000 in 1920 and 232,800 in 1919. The available information indicates that these cattle in December 1922 were of light weight, with the percentage of heavy feeders much smaller than during the preceding months. The heavy December marketings of short fed cattle put in as heavy feeders has resulted in a considerable change from December in the reported percentages of cattle of different weights put on feed. The figures for the two months are as follows: 1000 pounds and up, January 20 percent, December 30 percent; 750 to 1000 pounds, January 30 percent, December 40 percent; 500 to 750 pounds, January 29 percent, December 20 percent.

EQUITY ELECTS THIEL TO HIS OLD POSITION

Fargo, Jan. 20.—G. A. Thiel, against whom as secretary of the Equity Co-operative Exchange, former President J. M. Anderson brought charges of falsifying books, aiding and abetting enemies of the company and others of similar nature, the effect of which was to almost disrupt the exchange, was re-elected secretary of the exchange by the board of directors yesterday. Louis Nollmeier, acting president since Anderson was given a leave of absence following his refusal to resign as president at the request of certain of the directors, was elected president; Magnus Johnson is vice president; and H. J. Kaiser, treasurer.
J. E. Kelly, O. H. Olson and Nels Magnuson were re-elected to the board of directors, and H. L. Hendrickson and Paul Moore, both of Iowa, were named to fill the two places on the board created when the stockholders enlarged the board from nine to 11 members.
To Settle Suits.
The convention of stockholders of the exchange, which opened Tuesday forenoon, ended yesterday with peace and harmony prevailing, at least on the surface, but the directors will remain in session here for several days. They will meet with committees from the exchange and from the grain poolers and will endeavor to settle the $114,000 suit

'DEMONS' TAKE BEACH IN CAMP BY GOOD SCORE

Roll up 35 Points to 10 for Opponents in Game Last Night

(Special to The Tribune)
Beach, N. D., Jan. 20.—Bismarck high school's basketball team defeated the Beach high team last night in a good, clean, fast game by a score of 35 to 10.
The first half ended seven to four, the Bismarck players being unable to hit the basket with any regularity. During the last half the Capital City bunch got to going, and rolled up 23 points to six for Beach.
There were few fouls called, but Referee Neys kept the game going at a speedy pace and watched both sides closely. Scroggins, Alfson, Burke, Brown and Halloran divided most of Bismarck's field goals.

DAWSON LOSES GAME HERE TO B. H. S. "SECONDS"

Bismarck Seconds came away with the long end of the score in their first scheduled game of the season, when they defeated Dawson high school first team men, by a score of 36-8, here last night. The Dawson team never proved dangerous, and better shooting on the part of the locals, would have run the score up higher.

The defense of the Seconds allowed their opponents only two field goals during the contest. Dawson had a team that was clever in handling the ball, but they lacked the necessary teamwork to get down to the basket.

Hough was the big man for Dawson, securing all their points, while Scroggins and Murphy did most of the scoring for Bismarck.

Following are the lineups:
Dawson—Bismarck
Hough, rf. Nathan
Lewes, lf. Scott
Burkert, c. Rhud
Anderson, p. Seroggins
Brooks, lg. Murphy
Substitutes: Livdahl for Nathan
Field basket: Hough 2, Scroggins 6, Rhud 3, Murphy 6, Livdahl 1.
Fouls: Hough 4 out of 7; Murphy, 2 out of 2. Referee: Boise.

In a preliminary contest, the St. Mary's Catholic school went down to defeat before the High School Mid-jet, by a score of 22-11. The superiority of the Midjet's teamwork and shooting accounted for the victory.

NEW SALEM IS CAGE WINNER

New Salem high school's basketball five defeated a squad of the Bismarck "seconds" at New Salem last night, 8 to 7. The score at the end of the first half was 2 to 1.

MANDAN TEAM IS WINNER

Mandan high's basketball team defeated Dickinson at Dickinson last night, 28 to 17.

Chaffee In Lead In Bowling Event

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 20.—Fargo bowlers completely upset the standings of the first ten in the doubles and singles of the North-western Bowling Tournament. The Fargo, Northwest and Crookston delegations rolled their singles and doubles yesterday and Chaffee of Fargo proved to be the sensation of the tournament thus far. He rolled into first place in the singles over Fish of Grand Forks with a score of 649 for his three games.

Chaffee Leads All Events
Chaffee's high game was 256, which displaces Parash of Winnipeg, who up until yesterday had a grip on the cup to be given for the high single game score. In this game the Fargo man rolled seven straight strikes in the eighth frame he pulled a spare. In the ninth he made an error, but doubled out.

Chaffee's high single score boosted his total score for the tournament to 1768, giving him first place in the all-events. Kernahan of Winnipeg, who was first, was shoved to fourth place, with Kelsen of Fargo second and Moyan of Fargo, third. Fish of Grand Forks, who was second, is now fifth.

Fish, who held first in the singles is now second. Kernahan of Fargo, who was second, is down in fifth place, while Kelsen of Fargo, is third with 636 and Moher of Fargo, also rolled into the first ten in the singles.

Fargo Gets Tourney
The two Winnipeg doubles teams holding first and second places were not disturbed by yesterday's bowling. Leneberg and Boyd went into third in the doubles with 1120, while Morud and Lodine of Fargo are fourth. Davidson and Thompson of the same place seventh and Boyce and Ware tenth.

Fargo was selected as the meeting place for the tournament in 1924 at the annual meeting of the association held last night. No officers were elected. It was decided to allow the present officers to continue until arrangements for the next tournament were started. At that time the Fargo bowlers will choose their own officers to handle the event.

FRENCH MADE SOME GOLF HISTORY

Famous-Pro Player Established Record That Is Without Parallel

BY BILLY EVANS.
For high class consistent golf, few professionals in the country made a better showing last year than did Emmett French of the Youngstown (O.) Country Club.

French first made the golf world sit up and take notice in the P. G. A. tournament at Oakland, Pittsburg, where he went to the final round with Gene Sarazen, who had previously won the national open.

The showing of French was all the more remarkable when one considers that he entered the Oakland event just after recovering from an attack of neuritis, which certainly didn't help his game.

French later on played eight of the most remarkable rounds in the history of golf. He rarely did a player cover 72 holes without one bad round. Sarazen had it at Skokie and Hugen at Sandwich.

Wins Ohio Championship.
French's first brilliant performance occurred in the Ohio state open, which was played over French's home course at Youngstown.

The Youngstown course is 6,400 yards in length and well bunkered. French opened with a 67, followed with a 68, then came a 71 and a final round of 64, leaving him 271 for the 72 holes. He won easily, outclassing the rest of the field.

Shortly after the completion of the Ohio state open, French entered the southern open at Nashville. In a final, second-only to the national open at Skokie, French finished with 284.

Abc Mitchell and Leo Diegel were tied for first honor with 280. Then came Jim Barnes and Emmett French with 283. In the southern event, French started with a 68, then came two 70's and a 75.

Remarkable Golf.
Some idea of the remarkable golf that French played in the Ohio state, and southern open can be gleaned from the following figures:
In eight rounds of championship play over two long and difficult courses, French finished with an average of 69.1-2 strokes to the round.

French played the 14 holes in 557 strokes, which is 19 strokes under even 4's.

It seems impossible that a human being could be so near perfect with his golf.

For consistently brilliant golf, French's showing through two 72 medal rounds, against the stiffest kind of competition with big money prizes at stake, is without comparison in history of golf.

CALLS NINE BAD STRIKES, BUT MAKES HIS TRAIN

"I never think of Jack Powell but what I recall a run-in he had with Tim Hurst at Philadelphia," says Bobby Wallace, now scouting for the Chicago Cubs.
"It was on a Saturday, and in those days no games were played in the east on Sunday. When working in Philly, Tim Hurst always spent his evening in New York, leaving from North-Philadelphia right after the game."
"Powell was pitching this Saturday and was being badly bumped. He and Tim were disagreeing considerably. At the start of the last half of the eighth, the Athletic had just beaten something like 11 to 3."
"Powell, knowing that Hurst was anxious to get the express from North Philadelphia at a certain time, decided to upset Tim's plans."

Only Two Sectional Golf Champions Repeated During Past Year
Golfing crowns certainly rest uneasily on the heads of the proud possessors.
It is an inent golfer to repeat a win of 1921. Last year, Evans won the western amateur title. He came through again, by defeating George Von Elm by 5 to 4.

It is rather singular that George Von Elm, who lost to Evans in the western amateur, was the other prominent golfer to repeat in a tournament of consequence.

Von Elm, who won the Pacific Northwest title in 1921, again, captured that honor in 1922 by defeating Bronson Stein, one up.

The play of Gene Sarazen was unquestionably the feature of the year. In winning two national titles, the open and the professional golfers' championship, Sarazen turned a trick that has not been accomplished since 1916, when Chick Evans won the amateur and open championships.

In women's circles, Glenna Collett, by taking the national and eastern women's championship, set a high mark for other feminine golfers to shoot at.

How Schafer Forced Umpire To Call Game

"The funniest situation I ever saw Cleveland was back in 1906 or 1907," says Charles O'Leary, now assistant to staged on the ball field, happened on Miller Huggins at New York.

"I was playing shortstop for Detroit at the time. When the game started it looked like rain. Cleveland made three runs in the last of the fourth. It looked as if we were beaten and of course we decided to play for rain."

"Billy Evans was doing the umpiring. In the first of the fifth it started to sprinkle and we started to do everything possible to delay the game and annoy the umpire."

"Evans refused to be annoyed, and when our side was finally retired it was raining pretty hard. That made it a ball game and we were anxious for Bill to call it."

"Nothing doing," he replied, "you boys enjoyed yourself so much, the last inning, it's a shame to deprive you of your fun."

"We played the next three innings in a driving rain. There was no chance of either side making a run. Evans let on he enjoyed the rain and was deaf to our entreaties to call it."

"Finally, Herman Schaefer, now dead, borrowed a raincoat and umbrella from a fan and appeared as his position at second in that regalia."

"He was the funniest sight I ever saw on the ball field, raincoat buttoned high up, umbrella in one hand, glove on the other."

"That was too much for Evans—he called it."

Begin Career at Shortstop, Star at Some Other Position

It is a rather peculiar coincidence that three players now starring at other positions, began their major league careers at shortstop, Eddie Collins, Joe Dugan and Johnny McInnes.

Collins came to Mack from Columbia university. He was tried at short, third and right field before being switched to second, where he became one of the greatest players in the history of the game.

McInnes came to Mack from high school at Haverhill, Mass. He had his troubles at shortstop. The world laughed when Mack tried so short a player at first, but the success attained by McInnes proved Mack knew what he was doing.

Joe Dugan came to the Athletics from Holy Cross college, and for a time seemed destined to star at short. Later it was found that third base was his proper position.

Collins is rated the best second baseman in either major league. Joe Dugan leads the American League at third base. There are few better at first base than McInnes.

Basketball Quiz

DIFFERENCE.
How does the referee designate to the scorers and spectators the difference between a technical and a personal foul?

When the referee calls a personal foul it is customary for the official to raise his own hand over his head.

COACHING.
Has the coach or any other official or player the right to coach from the sidelines during the progress of a game?

There shall be no coaching from the sidelines during the game. Usually the officials warn those on the sidelines if they believe it is being done. If the warning fails, the referee has a right to give the opposing team a free throw for goal.

Harvard Wrestlers in Action

Iowa Heavyweight Beats Brennan

charging the captain of the offending team with a technical foul.

HELD BALL

Is it possible for a player to commit a foul while he and a player from the opposite side have a hold on the ball?

It is possible for a player to be unnecessarily rough in trying to secure possession of the ball from an opponent. Referees can avert such a possibility by calling "Held Ball" promptly, thereby suspending play, and immediately removing the desire to gain possession of the ball.

Something New In Baseball

The triple threat player in baseball is the very latest thing.

That is the title conferred on Jack Bentley, former Baltimore star, who is to get his big chance this year with the New York Giants.

Bentley can do three things well, pitch, play first base and bat. He was the leading pitcher in the International League, winning 12 out of 13 starts.

He also played first base when not pitching, and was a mighty clever style. As a batsman he was regarded as one of the most dangerous in the league.

McGraw will be in a position to use Bentley as a pitcher, first baseman or pinch hitter as he sees fit.

Strong Praise For Bancroft

"Bancroft of the New York Giants is one of the brightest shortstops in the history of the game," says Hugh Jennings, now assistant to John McGraw at New York.

In his day Jennings had no superior shortstop and knows whereof he speaks.

"Most of the modern shortstops play a stationary position," continues Jennings. "That is a fatal mistake, for often a step in either direction prior to the pitch, makes possible a play on the ball that would otherwise go as a base hit."

"McGraw gets very far without a great shortstop. While the New York team has a brilliant infield, that combination would be greatly slowed down by having an inferior player at shortstop."

PREP PLAYERS MAKE VARSITY

Paul B. Church, former Purdue university football star, is certainly turning out real football players at the Elgin Ill., high school.

Elmer Church is a great coach or else they grow star footballers out that way. Possibly the great success of teams representing Elgin is due to a combination of both.

It is a rather interesting fact that every player of the 1920 team that wore the Elgin colors made good at football in college.

The outstanding star of the team in a college way is Farwick, who starred at guard for West Point last season and was mentioned on several all-eastern honor lists.

WANTS STATE NAME CHANGED TO "DAKOTA"

Say "Dakota."
Not "North Dakota." That sounds too cold.
A resolution memorializing the national congress to so change the name of the state will be brought before the present session of the legislature, according to J. A. Kitchen, commissioner of agriculture and labor.

North Dakota isn't really such a cold place, he argues, but when people hear the first half of the name they immediately begin to shiver and begin to see visions of blizzards and ice-fields more commonly found in the arctic circle than in this state.

Mr. Kitchen's move will have at least one supporter in Dean Sheppard of the animal husbandry department of the Agricultural College at Fargo who has argued that "Southern Canada" sounds warmer than

WOULD BAN SEED BONDS

Measure Introduced in House Asks Repeal

Issuance of seed and seed bonds by counties has become a big burden to taxpayers, Representative Einar Muus, Ward county, said in explaining his bill to repeal the present seed and seed law.

The measure, he said, was introduced on request of the Ward county commissioners. The state convention of county commissioners also favored repeal, he said.

Ward county has issued $490,000 of bonds in 1918 and 1920. Of this amount $135,000 has been collected. It is estimated that 40 per cent of the persons owing the balance of $355,000 have left the county.

"It is too big a burden," said Mr. Muus. "It makes those who stay in the county and pay taxes, assume the burden of others, and many of those getting county loans are floaters."

PONY PULLS AUTO OUT

While the little, old cow pony and his rider have gone somewhat out of date they still come in handy on occasion, according to C. P. Kjeseth, cashier of the Menoken Farmers State Bank. While driving into Bismarck from Menoken Thursday Mr. Kjeseth got his Ford stuck in a snow bank. The rider, whose name was Small, came along, tied one of his ropes to his saddle horn and the other to the Ford and pulled it out. Just as the car came out of the snow bank the girth broke and the saddle went flying.

INDIAN HERE FOR DEFENSE OF FT. YATES

County Seat Fight in Legislature Brings in Numerous People

Capt. Thomas Frosted, an old-time Indian scout who served during the Sitting Bull uprising, came to Bismarck yesterday with some other Indians from the Standing Rock Reservation to protest against the bill which passed the house and is now pending in the senate designed to aid Selfridge in her fight for the county seat of Sioux county against Fort Yates.

Capt. Frosted appeared before a senate committee last night. He argued that Ft. Yates is more nearly the center of population than any other town, that the government had expended much money at Ft. Yates, that the Indians constitute more than half the voters of the Sioux county and that most of the white men in the western part of the county are Indian land. He pleaded for the right, he said, of the original Americans. His interpreter was Benjamin White, a Carlisle graduate.

The committee also was told there was an election last fall and Selfridge failed to get a majority of the votes. Among those much interested in the fight are Edward Johnson of Selfridge, forced state's attorney, who is for the bill and Geo. H. Purchase, present state's attorney, who is against it.

The bill would permit an election every two years on the question of removal.

TOWNLEY PAYS TRIBUTE TO HIS BROTHER

Detroit, Minn., Jan. 20.—Floral offerings of hundreds of friends literally buried the casket in which the body of C. S. (Pat) Townley, Nonpartisan League organizer, victim of a railroad crossing crash near Lincoln, Neb., reposed in the First Baptist church at Detroit, Minn., Thursday afternoon as funeral services were held. The friends themselves, many of them coming from Fargo and Minneapolis, filled the church to overflowing.

Arthur C. Townley, founder and former president of the Nonpartisan League, brother of Pat, made a brief address at the services.

"Every day is better than the preceding day," he declared. "The taking of Pat was to be. It was best. It was the will of the Divine Power." Mr. Townley spoke of the beautiful character of his brother and declared that his character was such as to act as an inspiration to all who came in contact with him.

George D. Brewer, league speaker and a personal friend of Pat also spoke briefly. At the close of his talk he quoted the following article written by Dr. Frank Crane, emphasizing its application to Pat:

What is a friend?
"What is a friend? I will tell you. It is a person with whom you dare to be yourself. Your soul can go naked with him. He seems to ask of you to put on nothing, only to be what you are. He does not want you to be better or worse. When you are with him you feel as a prisoner who has been declared innocent. You can say what you think, express what you feel. He is shocked at nothing, so long as it is genuinely you. He understands those contradictions in your nature that lead others to misjudge you. With him you breathe free. You can take off your coat and loosen your collar. You can vow your little vanities and envies and hates and vicious sparks, your meanness and absurdities and in opening them up to him they are lost, dissolved in the white ocean of his loyalty. He understands. You do not have to be careful. You can abuse him, neglect him, berate him, best of all you can keep still with him. It makes no matter. He likes you. He is like fire that purifies all you say. He is like wine that warms you to the bone. He understands, he understands. You can weep with him, laugh with him, sin with him, pray with him. Through and underneath it all he sees, knows and loves you. A friend, I repeat, is the one with whom you dare to be yourself."

Mr. Townley's aged father and mother, who reside at Parker's Prairie, southwest of Wadena on the old homestead, attended the services, and it was to them, and the grief-stricken widow, that A. C. Townley spoke rather than to the crowd of friends.

Mr. Townley was buried at Detroit, the home of his wife.

CHEVROLET MODELS HAVE NEW FEATURES

The most discussed automobile on the market is Chevrolet which is less than a year's time jumped from seventh to second place in current registrations and it promises still more sensational developments in 1923.

This car has been on the market about seven years but not until the fall of 1921 was it regarded as all serious as a contender for leadership in the low-priced field.

At that time a line of new models was brought out embodying important engineering improvements, high grade bodies on all closed models and prices ranging from $525 for the Touring Car to $875 for the 5-passenger Sedan (later reduced to $860).

The Chevrolet motor had always enjoyed an excellent reputation and the added improvement caused a rapid increase in demand that resulted in a shortage of supply that persisted all during 1922 in spite of double shifts and plant enlargements.

The new models announced in October included marked improvement in design and some added equipment at no advance in price.

About this time it was announced that new assembly plants were being built at Buffalo, Cincinnati and Janesville, Wis., also new body plants adjoining the automobile manufacturing plants at Buffalo, Cincinnati, Flint, St. Louis, Janesville and Oakland, thus giving Chevrolet the largest high-grade closed car capacity in the world.

Inasmuch as the demand for closed cars of all makes has of recent years always exceeded the supply at least part of the year, this new Chevrolet capacity is very important, because as is well-known in the trade, closed car business goes to the concern that can make the quickest delivery.

And now comes the copper-cooled Chevrolet, which has been discussed in engineering and trade circles for more than a year, all sorts of conflicting rumors having circulated regarding its existence, its performance, price, etc.

Although it is said that this new motor embodies no new scientific accomplishments, but merely successful application of established laboratory principles, it is very new to the trade and general public, and has been the center of interest at the New York show.

Production is stated to be limited, due partly to the extensive and expensive equipment required in the new metallurgical process employed for brazing the copper to cast iron—a feat hitherto considered impossible.

The practical measure of the remarkable progress of Chevrolet is told by sales figures for last two years. In 1920, up to that time the motor industry's best year, Chevrolet marketed 153,646 cars, in the bad year of 1921, sales fell to 71,909 cars, 1922 rolled up the splendid total of 243,000 sales, and production schedules for 1923 are said to be about double the 1922 sales.

Silver, essential in photography, is estimated to be used to the extent of 15,000,000 ounces yearly in the moving picture industry.

The twelve men initiated were: Philip W. Weber, M. O. Steen, Thurman Wright, Ray V. Stair, Albert Pederson, Jos. E. Potter, E. M. Carsons, W. M. Mayer, Oscar A. Feland, Thos. Schramm, Hugh McCulloch and J. H. Tabor of Washburn. Luncheon was served after the initiation.

of cars, of some seventy manufacturers, exhibiting about 400 different types, it certainly made an impressive show."

The show this year was particularly marked by the absence of any radical changes either in body styles or mechanical construction. General Motors, Dodge Brothers and Studebaker, because of the great number of cars built the past year were naturally accorded first consideration in the choice of display space. Ford does not exhibit at any of the manufacturers shows.

The largest dealers meeting of the week was that of Dodge Brothers, there being over 1000 dealers at this one meeting, held the afternoon of January 9th, in the ball room of the Pennsylvania Hotel. The Dodge Brothers factory executives outlined the accomplishments of the organization of the past year and gave their dealers a general idea of the enormous plans which are under way for the present year, in connection with Dodge Brothers factory and dealers family.

The principal entertainment for the afternoon consisted of an assembling contest, in which two teams of 8 men each took part. All the units for the building up of two complete roadsters, were on the stage, and at the firing of a pistol the two teams began the building up of the two cars. In just 21 minutes from the starting time, the "White" team had their car completely built up and the motor running. For this they were awarded a silver trophy by Dodge Brothers. The two roadsters were then placed side by side on the stage, on a movable tread mill, and with their motors wide open, and their drivers behind the wheels, raced across the stage at top speed. To one who was not actually there it is difficult to imagine the excitement of the 1000 dealers caused by the assembling contest and the following race between the two cars, built up while the audience look on.

5285 INSPECTIONS PER CAR

The faithfulness of performance so universally remarked in Dodge Brothers Motor Cars, is due, in no small part, to the thoroughness with which each unit is inspected during the process of manufacture and assembly.

A trained staff of 1100 experts is employed in this work alone, and approximately 5,285 inspections are made on each car.

So exacting and rigid are the standards applied to these inspections that the slightest variation, either in workmanship or material, is sufficient cause for immediate rejection.

Dodge Brothers are almost over-scrupulous in their constant aim to make each car as sound and perfect as is humanly possible.

The price of the "Type A" Sedan is $1630.00 delivered in Bismarck.
